Keystone International Livestock Expo In Progress

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — For anyone with an interest in raising, breeding, or learning more about livestock, the 39th Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) currently under way at the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg is a premier showcase.

Not only are there competitions among beef cattle breeders, sheep breeders, swine breeders and horse breeders, but there are sales of breeding stock, stockman's contests, commercial exhibits, booths specializing in stockman gear, clothing and equipment, educational exhibits and breed organization representatives.

The event is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association (PLA).

In opening ceremonies Thursday held in the Small Arena of the Farm Show Complex, state Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius said that KILE is "one of the leading livestock shows in the country. It's an outstanding opportunity for livestock breeders not only in Pennsylvania, but around the country."

He encouraged all to visit the entire layout of the show set to run through Oct. 9 and to "see the new face of the state Farm Show Complex" with all the improvements made to the facilities in recent years.

Also during opening ceremonies, the PLA named its 1995 recipient of it Livestock Hall of Fame award.

Arthur Glatfelter, Dallastown, was selected for his many years of service to agriculture, support of events and organizations, and involvement in developing programs and legislation.

A photograph of Glatfelter was unveiled by PLA president Peter Krall at the opening ceremonies award presentation. After receiving the award Glatfelter said, "I've had a great time supporting agriculture."

In effect, he said that he has felt that supporting agriculture has been an investment of time, effort and resources that has been personally rewarding because of being able to contribute to the health of the agriculture industry

Lancaster County Farm Bureau Continues Reassessment Stance

STRASBURG (Lancaster Co.) — "The good news to farmers is that no one opposed the tax reassessment delay," Dr. Robert S. Barr told members attending the annual meeting of the Lancaster County Farmers Association on Tuesday night.

Barr, who is president of the Fair Tax Institute, reported on the hearing held before a three-judge panel in the county's Court of Common Pleas on Monday. Ten witnesses, including three county commissioners, testified in support of delaying the reassessment plan that was to be put into effect on Jan. 1, 1996.

Farmers headed the opposition to the reassessment plan because they consider it unfair to agriculture.

No decision had been made by the Tuesday night banquet, but judges are expected to rule on the request within a few days.

Barr said, "I believe it will be postponed. It's a good sign that not one person opposed the delay."

If the reassessment plan is delayed for another year, those who signed up with the Clean and Green program will have their

With Penn State Dairy Judging Team coach Dale Olver as judge, Paul Ritter of Muncy emerged victorious among 54 exhibitors at the open Holstein show on Sept. 27. The grand champion was his junior 3-year-old daughter, Rosalynn's Coal Rose.

Reserve grand champion was Celebrity Count Stefoni, a six years and older Count daughter exhibited by Jan Jurbala of Orangeville. Junior champion exhibitor was John Rishel of Mifflinburg with Miss Knights Lady Amanda, an Inspiration senior heifer calf.

Judge Norman Hill selected the following grand champion females in the other breeds at a separate show held on Sept. 26:

Ayrshire-S&M-Ayr Emmanuel's Fern, intermediate heifer

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
OCTOBER 4, 1995

Cash wheat bids finished slightly higher on fund buying and export optimism. Corn bids were slightly lower due to harvest pressure but good export demand limited declines. Soybean bids gained some strength on good export sales, crop concerns, and improved meal and oil demand. Wheat steady to 3 cents higher. Corn 1 to 2 cents lower.

Sorghum mixed. Soybeans 2 to 5 cents higher. Wheat traded slightly higher on indications that Jordan bought some U.S. wheat overnight but nothing has been confirmed as yet. Fund buying on the board offered some strength and stronger bean trade underpinned bids. Very good export demand for corn and soybean today. However, corn closed slightly lower as active harvest weighed on bids. Bean were supported by improved meal and oil demand and a good overnight sale to Taiwan. Traders concerns over potential crop damage due to hurricane Opal, offered strength to bids. Heavy winds and torrential rains moved into Georgia and Alabama today.

WHEN IT COMES TO DESCRIBING AMERICA'S CO-OPS, THE SKY'S THE LIMIT!

The nation's 47,000 cooperatives are big and small. They serve 120 million people in all 50 states. And, they're located everywhere - cities, towns, suburbs and throughout rural America.

Providing goods and services as economically and efficiently as possible is their first order of business. And as locally owned and controlled businesses, co-ops are unique because of their commitment not only to the people they serve but also to their communities.

You'll find co-ops for credit and financing, electric and telephone service, insurance, housing, day care, health care, food, farm marketing and supply, news services, florists and much more.

For years co-ops have been expanding horizons for the people they serve. In their own words: "It's just good business and it works for the benefit of our neighbors, our communities and for our country too."

OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

OCTOBER 9-15, 1995

COLUMBUS DAY (OBS.), OCT. 9.

LEIF ERIKSSON DAY

A good week for explorers, with Columbus Day and Leif Eriksson Day both on October 9. In 1977 President Jimmy Carter proclaimed Leif (the Lucky) Eriksson Day, in commemoration of the Norse explorer. The exact date and site of Eriksson's discovery of America, around the year 1000, are uncertain. Some historians believe that Eriksson landed in North America, somewhere between Nova Scotia and Virginia, up to 488 years earlier than Columbus. King Olaf I had commissioned Eriksson to convert the Vikings of Greenland to Christianity.

"If I have ever made any valuable discoveries, it has been owing more to patient attention, than to any other talent." — Isaac Newton

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Try listening to a cassette recording of a book to spice up boring chores or long commutes. Check your local library.

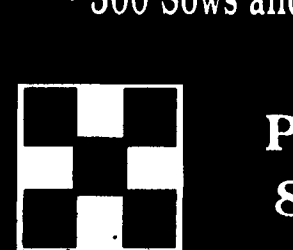
PICKLED CABBAGE

1 medium cabbage
1 green pepper, chopped
1 cup sugar
1 cup cider vinegar
1 bay leaf
1 stick cinnamon
salt



Shred, wash, and drain the cabbage and put it, overnight, in a brine of one part salt to nine parts water. Drain and squeeze out excess moisture; then mix with the pepper. Combine the sugar, vinegar, spices, and 4 cups of water and boil for 5 minutes. Pack the cabbage into hot, sterilized jars and pour in the boiling liquid to cover. Seal and let set for at least 2 weeks.

Makes 4 pints.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

If crickets chirp in the house, rain is near.

If the walls are creaking, the humidity is rising or the wind is coming up.

When burning logs pop, the air pressure is on the increase.

When soot falls down the chimney, rain is near.

OPINION

About KILE And The 4-H Program

The 39th Keystone Internation Livestock Exposition is in progress this weekend in Harrisburg. Over 4,400 entries are competing for $200,000 in premiums. Hundreds of collegiate, FFA and 4-H students from several states are competing, and these contests are excellent tests of knowledge and skill and provide students with valuable experience for their futures in agriculture.

This year has been designated the "Year of the Beef," and extra effort is being made to increase public awareness of the beef industry and the high caliber of shows held annually at KILE.

But of course, sheep, horses, and hogs receive their fair share of recognition, too. And along with all the breed shows, the organizers of KILE have planned entertainment for the whole family. The show runs through Monday so it's not too late to load up the family and head for the show in Harrisburg at the Farm Show Complex.

This is also National 4-H Week. Local clubs across the nation celebrate the accomplishments of 4-H youth during the week of October 2 to 8. The theme for 1995 is "4-H...More Than You Ever Imagined." This reflects the variety of 4-H programming and the diversity of the loves and backgrounds of 4-H youth.

Young people between the ages of 8 and 19 develop leadership, citizenship, interpersonal, and workforce skills in a wide variety of 4-H programs that fall within four major academic disciplines: biological sciences, social sciences, arts, and humanities, and physical sciences.

Over 5.6 million young people participate each year in 4-H "hands-on" activities. Dedicated, volunteer adult leaders donate their time and talents to help these young people.

4-H is part of the youth development program of the Cooperative Extension System.

We recognize each person who is part of the 4-H program. Because of 4-H, our world is a better place in which to live.

Now Is The Time

To Evaluate Soybean Forage

Do you have some double crop soybeans which look like they will not produce enough beans for harvest?

If so, you may want to consider an alternative use for them, according to Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent.

In general, soybeans are not known as a forage crop with the best nutritional value. The soybean plant is high in fiber and very high in lignin.

High lignin feeds do not taste good and animals will eat less of them. Nutritionists generally do not suggest using a feed like this for high producing dairy cows but would find it more appropriate for heifers, late lactation cows and beef animals.

Soybean hay does not cure very well due to large leaves and amount of stems. Immature soybeans on the plant also hold moisture.

In addition, weather conditions at this time of year make drying any kind of hay difficult. Soybean silage offers more flexibility and possibly better quality feed.

The moisture content of the silage is critical. Soybeans should be put in an upright silo between 50 and 65 percent moisture or 55 and 70 percent moisture in a bunker silo or bag. Another consideration is whether there is a sufficient quantity of soybeans in the field to harvest as a forage crop.

If only a few plants are tall enough to mow, then harvesting may cost more than the feed is worth and the crop should be left in the field as a green manure crop.

To Do Tax Planning

Alan Strock, extension farm management agent, reminds us now is the time to start thinking about 1995 income and social security taxes.

The next two months is the time to project your expenses and income till the end of the year. Then you need to calculate your tentative tax liability.

If your projected liability is higher than you desire, many methods are available to lower your tax liability. A few methods are pay your children for work done, purchase farm inputs such as feed, fertilizer or seeds ahead, purchase machinery, or contribute to your IRA.

However, be careful not to make investment decisions based solely on eliminating taxes.

Remember, the goal of tax planning is to level out your tax liability year to year, not necessarily to eliminate all tax liability.

To Plan For Small Grain Silage

Small grain silage may make an excellent feed for ruminant livestock. In addition to being a good feed, small grain silage makes good economic sense.

Small grains grown for silage will allow a livestock producer to grow two forage crops in one year giving an increase in the total amount of feed grown per acre. Small grains will also give the added advantages of using more nutrients per acre, especially fall applied manure, being a winter cover crop and protecting water quality.

For the best feeding value, small grains need to be harvested at the optimum stage of growth. Rye makes the best feed when harvested in the boot stage. Oats are best when harvested in the boot to early head stage. Wheat and barley make the best feed when harvested in the soft dough stage.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "Excellence can be yours if you see life as a daring experience."

A MAN NAMED SIMON
October 8, 1995

A MAN NAMED SIMON

October 8, 1995

Background Scripture:
Acts 8:4-40
Devotional Reading:
Acts 8:9-22

"So there was much joy in that city. But there was a man named Simon...& (8:8,9).

There is always someone like Simon in or near the community where we live. The Simon of New Testament times was a magician, the writer of Acts, tells us. Whether he actually performed magic or only magical tricks, we do not know. Whatever he did, it amazed, not only the people of his own city, but the whole "nation of Samaria." The writer tells us, "...they gave heed to him, because for a long time he had amazed them with this magic" (8:11).

The Simons of today are more likely to be politicians, entertainers—including some television evangelists—or sports celebrities. People often seem almost hypnotized by the power of these people. They pay enormous sums to hear and see them and their every move is closely chronicled in the press.

In the days of the early church the apostles preached with a power that also captured the attention of the public. When Philip went to Samaria preaching about the kingdom of God, apparently large numbers of people responded to the gospel. Simon had amazed the people with his feats; Philip, by contrast, brought them the good news of the kingdom of God and baptism. In fact, so powerful was Philip that "Even Simon himself believed..." (8:13).

BIRTH OF SIMONY

Acts tells us, "he was amazed." But he would be even more amazed when later he witnessed the descent of the Holy Spirit through the laying on of hands by the apostles. It is understandable that Simon, freshly converted, made a response which was appropriate from the perspective of the life he used to live: "Give me also this power, that any one on whom I lay my hands may receive the Holy Spirit" (8:19).

Of course, we all know that Simon was wrong, but don't many of us bring some unsanctified attitudes along with us into the church? Over the years I've seen some of these attitudes and values gain unquestioned acceptance: the most successful church is the biggest one; the most important members are the most prominent or wealthy ones; a program is successful if lots of people attend; etc. There's a lot more of Simon in the church than we may realize.

Simon has left his mark on the church. The historic practice of permitting people to purchase church offices—particularly during the Middle Ages—either by the payment of money or some other sordid consideration is called simony (SIM-oh-knee) and it was one of the issues which both Protestant and Roman Catholic reformers sought to correct. Simony in the strictest sense is no longer an issue today, but that doesn't mean there are not times when the church is not "for sale!"

SELLING THE GIFT

We need to give Simon credit, however, for, when Peter reproaches him sternly, "Your silver perish with you, because you thought you could obtain the gift of God with money!" Simon responds to his challenge to "Repent" with contrition: "Pray for me to the Lord, that nothing of what you have said may come upon me" (8:24).

Now, you may protest that Simon is only trying to escape the judgment that Peter has laid upon him but there are some of us who, even when we are caught red-handed, don't have the presence of mind to repent. Instead—and Simon could have tried this—we brazen it out, justifying our unsanctified acts and attitudes. Give Simon credit for knowing when to admit his sin and ask for God's forgiveness.

Do we?

CHORE-TIME ...nobody knows more about feeding

The Right Choice in broiler feeders

Feed broilers and pullets your way! As the world leader in poultry feeding systems, Chore-Time offers you the best choices in feeders. You will love what our newest feeders —the Model C2™ and Model H2™—do for you.

Features include (1) labor-saving Patented Feed Windows that open to let chicks eat from day one—without additional feed on paper or "lids", (2) feed-saving features like easy feed adjustment settings, and (3) cost-saving all-plastic designs with Chore-Time Warranty.

Pick a Chore-Time feeding system—including our rugged feed bins and Genuine Chore-Time FLEX-AUGER® Feed Delivery System, plus ventilation—and you know you've made the Right Choice—because it's from Chore-Time, the leader!

Both Models C2 (above) and H2 (left) start chicks when lowered to floor, finish birds when raised up.

The Right Choice in cage feeders

Chore-Time's popular ULTRAFLO® Cage Feeding System is now even more outstanding! We've developed and tested the second generation of ULTRAFLO feeders and named it the ULTRAFLO® II.

ULTRAFLO II offers you even greater reliability, durability, and outstanding feed-saving performance—up to 1 gram of feed per bird per day—over the original ULTRAFLO. And even the original ULTRAFLO was beating our competitors in feed savings!

So, join the cage feeding leader. Contact us today. Find out how Chore-Time and ULTRAFLO II can help you be a leader, too!

New Shape
The difference is the shape of the feeder's trough (at right). ULTRAFLO II's higher trough lip reduces feed waste by keeping it in the trough and not on the floor or in the pit.

The unique Millcreek Row Mulcher eliminates all the hand labor for mulching.

Finally, a practical way to apply organic mulch to row crops

Organic mulch is the natural way to suppress weeds, help retain soil moisture, and improve soil conditions. Trouble is, hand mulching takes too much time and effort. Now the Millcreek Row Mulcher makes it easy and affordable to mulch berries, grapes, fruit trees, and other row crops. One operator can mulch an acre in just a couple hours depending on conditions.

Spread A Variety of Materials, Including Lime

You can spread all types of stemless flowable mulches, such as wood chips, sawdust, chopped bark, even compost, with plenty of clearance to avoid plant damage. Plus, the Millcreek Row Mulcher is ideal for banding lime and other materials requiring lighter applications. The optional metering gate gives you complete control of the coverage so you can tailor applications to best suit your cultivation practices. With the labor-saving versatility you get with the Millcreek Row Mulcher, you may even find new techniques to grow better crops.

For Small Growers
This may be the affordable machine you've been looking for to mulch berries, grapes, and other row crops. Think of the labor you'll save.

For Commercial Growers
Choose from 3.1, 4.5, and 6.8 cubic yard capacities. Or call to discuss your special requirements.

One "Farm-Tough" Machine
With our own farming background, we take great satisfaction in building affordable machines for growers like you who need reliable, trouble-free equipment to help increase production and keep costs down. That's just what the Millcreek Row Mulcher will do for you. Call today.

checks returned and will need to reapply by June 1996.

Barr said that the Fair Tax Institute has developed several new concepts of tax reform that are fair to all people. These will be examined at an upcoming seminar at the Penn Harris Radisson and at the Farm Bureau state convention in November.

The Institute has entered all data concerning budgets and costs to run the government, schools, Dept. of Ag, and other public institutions. This will allow them to design and redesign any plan to come to a consensus of what will or will not work.

"It may be possible to eliminate real estate taxes in your county. We don't want to get your hopes high, but it is possible," Barr same of the options being considered.

"There's a strong conviction that tax reform is needed. It isn't any question that people want reform. The question is what kind of reform will be fair to all people," Barr said about the complexity of devising a new plan.

As guest speaker, Pennsylvania Farm Burea President Keith Eckel reported on the Farm Bill. "We like what we see," he said.

In other business, Ellis Crowl, state director, presented a check of $2,723 to Jane Balmer, president of the county organization, for a refund from the co-op program.

Roy Romberger, regional organizational director, presented a national award from Farm Bureau to the Lancaster County Association in recognition of meeting membership quotas. New members added this past year were 160, which results in a total county membership of 1,261.

Members voted to support the following policies proposed by the Lancaster County Farmers Association.

- Favor local tax reform in order to ease the burden on the property owner.
- Favor school voucher systems to help parents pay tuitions for private and non public schools.
- Favor a flat tax rate over $24,000 to simplify the income tax.
- Favor milk testing for antibiotics or residues be standardized.
- Favor that farmers be exempt from unemployment tax.
- Oppose the fact that 75 percent of fees for special designed Pa. vehicle license plates (endangered species types) goes to animal rights groups that may oppose farming practices.
- Support a law that tow truck drivers must report property damage to owners of that property within 24 hours of removing a vehicle from the property that has been damaged.

The following directors were nominated for two-year terms: Jane Balmer, District 1; Jim Zimmerman, District 4; Carl Landis, District 6; Wilmer Yost, District 7; Karl Herr, District 12; and Glenn Aument, District 13.

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — "Big Red," what the judge classified as a "real show hog," won supreme market swine on Tuesday night at the New Holland Fair.

Gerald Martin, 10, son of Clarence and Marilyn Martin, New Holland, celebrated the end of his show season by exhibiting his 266-pound purebred Duroc.

Show judge Jim Parlett, Airville, praised the hog from the heavyweight division for its overall leanness, muscling, and "soundness."

Gerald is in the 5th grade at Brecknock Elementary. With Big Red, this was the first championship for Gerald, who picked the hog from the Larry Arnold herd in Womelsdorf. Gerald has shown at the Denver and Ephrata fairs.

Reserve champion went to Justin Good, 20, son of Amos and Pat Good, Lititz. Justin said this was the last year he'll be showing at New Holland, and said he has been pretty happy this show season. Justin showed his 248-pound middleweight champion, a Babcock hog from Jerry Hostetter in Denver.

Showmanship champions were Lisa Pfautz, senior; Kevin Pfautz, junior; and Holy Hoover, amateur.

In all, there were a total of 70 hogs and 30 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.

Md. Dairy Judging Members Worthy Of Competition

JOANNE E. MORVAY
Maryland Correspondent

WESTMINSTER, Md.—What's it like to be the proverbial rose among the thorns?

Two young women from Carroll County are getting a real world lession this fall in being the beauties among the "beasts."

The bovines at the World Dairy Expo in Madison don't speak their language and the men they're traveling with don't always know what to make of them, but Marie Speak of Taneytown and Jessica Fritz of New Windsor said being the only women on Maryland's two top dairy judging teams is no big deal.

When they're in the ring circling cows so they can place them, it doesn't matter that they're the lone women on their teams—and it better not matter to their teammates either, they said.

Marie, daughter of John and Bonnie Speak, is a junior at the University of Maryland. She previously was a member of the state's 4-H judging team and represented Maryland at international competition in Europe a few years ago.

Jessica, a senior at Francis Scott Key High School, is the daughter of Daniel and Sharon Fritz. She represented Maryland 4-H at competition in Louisville, Ky. last year.

Jessica was the only woman on that team also. She and Mark Schnebly of Washington County returned to this year's Madison team.

Though having one woman on a team can pose dilemmas—the expense of having one team member in a hotel room, and the worry of isolation—Dr. Lee Majeski, Maryland's dairy judging coach, said he chooses his team members according to how well they score in competition.

Marie and Jessica have proven themselves skilled members of their respective teams, Majeski said. Their status as women may come in to play logistically, but it does not matter in the ring, he said.

Marie previously judged with Mark Iager in European competition.

"We've been judging together so long that it really doesn't make a difference" that she's a woman, she said, with a laugh.

The camaraderie among the team members surpasses the differences between them, they said at a recent practice session.

This year, the teams have spent more time coaching and encouraging their "rookie" members, Chris Seymour and Bobby Fogle. Both men are new to dairy judging. Chris is a former Maryland livestock judging winner. Bobby's only experience in the ring is poultry judging—a far cry from judging cows.

With competition fast upon them—team members have no time or interest in worrying whether men are better judges than women, they said.

"This is extremely important to me. It's the last contest we're going to judge in like this and we're trying to uphold the reputation of Maryland," Marie said.

"But you can't stress out," cautioned Sean Johnson of Howard County, speaking as much to himself as the rest of the team. "Because that's when you make mistakes," he said.

Judging has taught each of them to look beyond what's close at hand and draw from within themselves, the team members said.

"You have to go out and do the best you can," said Sean.

"Without worrying about the other team," finished Marie.

It's a mantra they all repeat often.

The Maryland 4-H team placed 4th in the oral reasons contest at Harrisburg and 9th overall. Chris Seymour of Howard County was first in oral reasons and 4th overall in individual competition.

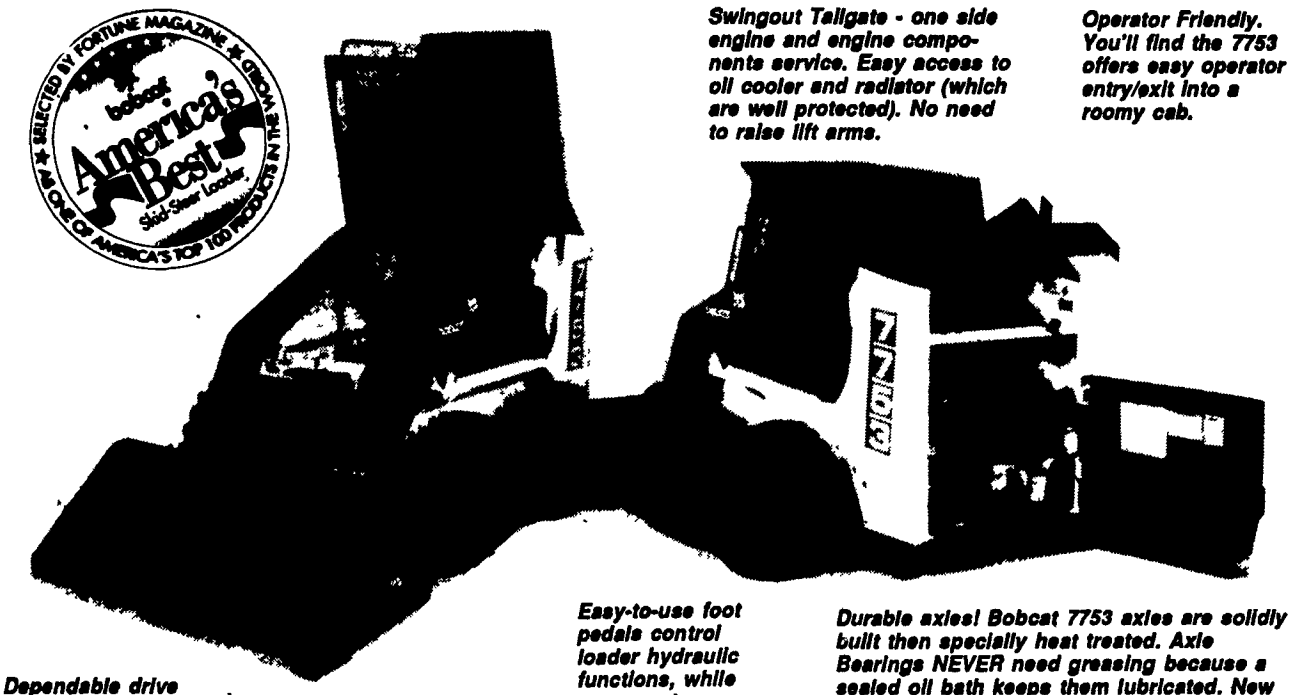
The University of Maryland team took second place in oral reasons, losing first place to Cornell University by only two points, according to Maryland coach Katharine Knowlton. The team placed sixth overall. Marie Speak placed 4th in reasons and Sean Johnson was seventh. Mark Iager was 12th individual overall.

Knowlton said while the performance wasn't as high as team members had hoped, they are preparing even harder for Madison.

And they're all equally confident things will improve, she said.

Bobcat 7753 Long-Wheelbase Skid-Steer Loader

It's What's Inside That Counts!



Swingout Tailgate - one side engine and engine components service. Easy access to oil cooler and radiator (which are well protected). No need to raise lift arms.

Operator Friendly. You'll find the 7753 offers easy operator entry/exit into a roomy cab.

Dependable drive chains that NEVER need adjusting. The "bow tie" design uses prestressed, heavy-duty drive chains in two short continuous loops per side. That means long-life in the most rugged use and NO periodic, time-consuming drive chain adjustments.

Easy-to-use foot pedals control loader hydraulic functions, while two steering levers allow precise maneuverability.

Durable axles! Bobcat 7753 axles are solidly built then specially heat treated. Axle Bearings NEVER need greasing because a sealed oil bath keeps them lubricated. New axle hub design protects axle seal from damage from wire or twine. Hub is easily removed if service is required.

Experience America's Best.
Melroe company has over 30 years of skid-steer loader experience – longer than anyone else. That's one of the reasons Fortune Magazine has twice recognized the Bobcat loader as one of the 100 products "America Builds Best."

Other than a few daily checks and fills, you can rely on the PERFORMANCE of the 7753 Bobcat. It has been designed and built with durability and low maintenance in mind.

Great Serviceability!
The Bobcat 7753 has been designed to be serviced quickly. For example, there's single-side access to the transversely-mounted engine, a lift-out oil cooler for easy cleaning and a tip-up cab to expose hydraulic and hydrostatic componentry. Cattle Photographer Offers Tips

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—Professional photographs are an important merchandising tool for dairy animals, and offer a permanent. Judy Black, Agri-Graphics Ltd. photographer, told participants at a seminar at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show in Harrisburg this week that "seeing is believing. A photograph will show exactly how an animal looks, and it should be perfect."

Black said preparation is the key to a successful photo session. At shows, the cow already looks her best for the showing judge; at the farm it may mean extra work.

Cleanliness is the first consideration, Black said, with complete washing a must—even in winter. She said animals should be clipped as they would be for a show, including the head and neck with careful concern for blending, udder and legs. She noted that the purpose of clipping is to enhance the appearance of the animal.

It is vitally important that an animal be broken to halter. Black said, "You must teach an animal respect for the halter if they are not show animals."

She recommends using a black halter when picturing Holsteins; tan for Guernseys and Jerseys. She said there should be a thin noseband on the halter to show the animal at its best advantage.

Another important step is to "bag" the cow appropriately. Since the udder should be full at the time of the photograph, it is necessary to plan the appropriate time for milking the cow.

Black said that while getting the animal ready is the owner's responsibility, the photographer will choose the appropriate spot for the actual photograph, taking into account the background and the position of the sun and shadows. She noted that the professional photographer is positioned 30 feet from the animal for the actual photograph.

For any photo shoot, a minimum of five people are required, Black pointed out. One person holds the animal, two work the front feet, one holds the tail and someone must capture the animal's attention.

Black travels with her own "preparation kit" which includes combs, sprays and her all-important spray bottle which contains a mixture of 1/3 vinegar and 2/3 water-"to brighten spots instantly."

Black said she also likes to use fly spray on animals to keep them comfortable during the session.

Dean Amick Continues To Serve Pa.DHIA

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

Dean began his career with DHIA as a supervisor in Lancaster County more than 40 years ago building an outstanding circuit of 90 herds over a 16-year period.

In 1970, Dean transferred to State College to work for Pennsylvania DHIA to manage the newly opened Central Milk Testing Laboratory, one of the first centralized and electronically equipped DHIA laboratories in the world.

While managing the lab, Dean had the opportunity to serve as the first president of the North American Lab Association and served on the Advisory Committee for five years.

Also included in Dean's past laboratory experiences are managing and overseeing the first laboratory to test for the protein component and being among the first to test somatic cell count in 1976. In 1980 he was instrumental in facilitating the first fully computerized laboratory.

After almost 20 years of excellent service in that capacity and after earning recognition as the foremost DHIA lab manager in North America, Dean transferred to the newly formed department of support services where he successfully developed many new functions, including a sample transportation system that was less expensive than the previous system. He went on to set-up and coordinate 92 truck stops throughout the state which consisted of five truck routes.

In 1991 to present, Dean has served as director of Field Operations. These job duties include being responsible for all field operations. He oversees and is responsible for the activities of 160 employees.

The service area of Pa. DHIA includes Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland, New Jersey and Missouri. This market share consists of 260,000 cows.

A typical day for Dean includes returning and answering phone calls from dairymen, receiving and making phone calls to Pa. DHIA technicians, attending staff meetings, attending county and regional member and technician meetings.

Through the years Dean has seen several changes take place in the DHIA system. Having the opportunity to play a part in it all has given him a special inner satisfaction.

Dean is an avid softball fan. Having played softball most of his life, he is currently district commissioner for a nine-county area responsible for 600 softball teams. He also had the opportunity to serve as administrative assistant for the men's fastpitch team at the 1987 Pan American Games.

In the local area he has served as president of the local softball association for 23 years. He also oversees several youth tournaments each year.

Dean and his wife Shirley reside in Boalsburg. They have two grown children, Julene and Dean Jr., and have one grandchild, David who is 12.

The staff at Pa. DHIA would like to thank Dean for his long terem commitment to Pa. DHIA. The great wealth of knowledge and experience that Dean gives to his job benefits Pa. DHIA in a big way.

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Making the "most of the money" allowed Jessica Stolzfus to capture supreme champion ewe and ram on Wednesday evening at the New Holland Fair Sheep Show.

Jessica, 15, daughter of Frank and Irene Stoltzfus, Elizabethtown, said her family obtains "the best sheep we can for the money we want to spend." They apparently struck it rich at the sheep show. Jessia picked up grand champion ram with her Dorset ram lamb, "Kermit," and won champion ewe with her Dorset yearling ewe, "Penelope." Jessica swept the breeding sheep show with her Dorset ewe, champion breeding sheep, and Dorset ram, reserve champion.

Jessica, a freshman at Elizabethtown High School, said she purchased the champion ewe from Penn State at a Virginia sale. The first ewe was named after the "P" in Penn State — Penny. The second, also in honor of the college, was named Penelope.

Jessica said her best friend, Tori Ginder, offered the name "Kermit" for the champion ram.

This is Jessica's first championship at the New Holland Fair. The seven-year county 4-H member said she has been showing since she was five years old, with her first show at Elizabethtown. Jessia has been showing three years at the New Holland Fair Sheep Show and plans to show at the Keystone International Livestock Expo, the Manheim Farm Show, and the state Farm Show.

Cheryl Fairbairn, livestock agent in Chester County, said that when judging a grand champion, she is looking for "an animal that best typifies what that particular breed is doing today, which direction it is going." For the champion ewe, Fairbairn said she liked the "volume, capacity, and strength we see in this ewe."

Market lamb champion was Tracy Bollinger, showing her Dorset wether from the heavyweight division. Tracy, 18, daughter of Gene and Carole Bollinger, Manheim, obtained the champion from Ken Staver, Hershey.

Fairbairn said the wether is "extremely lean and well-muscled throughout."

In all, there was a total of 107 animals and 34 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.

Berks Co. Holstein Club To Head North

FLEETWOOD (Berks Co.)—The Berks County Holstein Club will sponsor a bus trip to Lantland Farms of Horseheads, NY and Gorwood-D Holsteins of Mansfield, PA. The trip will take place on Saturday, November 18, 1995. The bus will leave the Berks Co. Ag Center parking lot at 7 AM and arrive at Lantland a little before noon. The Lantz's, Ross, Walter, Marlin and Marge, operate a 200+ cow dairy with a BAA of 108.9 and a herd average over 20,000 pounds of milk. Haylage and corn silage from 650 acres of crop ground along with grain fed through a Smart Feeder make up the ration. Rag Apple and Canadian bloodlines form the bulk of the herd, with the Lucy family being one of their favorites. Showing and merchandising are given a lot of attention in the Lantland herd.

We will then head south to Mansfield and visit the herd of Gordon Wood and sons, Ron and Tim. Gorwood-D totals over 300 cows, and the home farm houses about 180 head with a BAA of 110.9 and a herd average over 23,000 pounds of milk. The cattle are kept in a stall barn and bedded with lots of sawdust. The feed, including haylage, corn silage and baled hay, is grown on 2,000 acres of cropland. The Woods have been active in the sales business, and Ron is currently serving on the Board of Directors of Holstein USA. The family enjoys showing and sharing their thoughs and philosophies on agriculture and the breeding of great Holstein cows.

Enroute home, we will stop at Fry's Turkey Ranch Restaurant for a turkey (what else?) dinner with all the trimmings. Return time at the Ag Center will be by 9 PM. The cost for the day will be $37 and includes all costs of transportation and the evening meal. We suggest you bring a brown bag lunch and the Berks Co. Holstein Club will provide drinks. To make reservations to participate, send your check, name, address and phone number to Dave Bitler, R.D. #4, Box 4176, Fleetwood, PA 19522 by November 3rd.

Our tour promises to be a fun day of visiting old and new friends and seeing an amazing group of cattle. Plan to be a part of the action!

Old-Time Hay Machinery Focus Of Show

ARCADIA, Md. — Hay tools and equipment became the focus of the 40th annual Maryland Steam Historical Society Show held here recently, with the theme, "Make Hay While The Sun Shines."

This year's show had the "finest collection of hay tools and equipment ever assembled anywhere," said Robert Rauhauser, hay tool collector from Thomasville, Pa.

Rauhauser said the show experience was "like stepping back in time" and featured a variety of tools. They ranged from a hand-operated hay press to a one-horse sweep hay press to a stationary baler to a kicker baler to a large round baler.

Included were a collection of haymow forks, hay track carriers (some made that didn't have four wheels and slid on a wooden track), hay knives, safety grapples, swivel rope hooks, a hay load binder, and other items.

There were more than 20 collectors displaying from Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

One exhibitor, Olin Pryor, Martinsburg, W.Va., is the owner of a hone-horse sweep hay press on display. Rauhauser, Thomasville, Pa., believes his own hand-operated hay press was manufactured before the Civil War.

Robert Schwab, Hagerstown Md., and Earl Rohrbaugh, Glen Rock, Pa., enjoyed showing and explaining how their mower knife grinders worked.

Rauhauser said, "I like to listen to all the old timers about their haying experiences. Most were hardships that happened because making hay was the hardest, hottest, dirtiest job on the farm back in those days."

Most enjoyable was listening to stories and sharing a few good laughs about the trouble and hard work making hay used to be, according to Rauhauser.

Next year, the Maryland Steam Historical Society will be featuring the dairy business. Anyone collection dairy items such as milking machines, cream separators, milk stools, cow and calf items, bull leads and blinders, milk bottles, and other items should contact Herb Wessel, Hamstead, Md., (410) 374-2273.

Less Than Two Day Turn-A-Round

JAY MYLIN
Manager

In August, Lancaster DHIA had a turn-a-round time of 1.8 days. This is the length of time from date of test until reports are mailed to the dairymen. Cooperation in several areas is responsible for this record achievement: (1) Having our own local lab and daily delivery of samples to the lab, (2) Technicians uploading date to DRPC and packing samples for delivery to lab, and (3) DRPC @ Raleigh processing two times a day with all reports being mailed the same day as processed.

Many dairymen have expressed the importance of receiving reports quickly to make management decisions promptly. Since most dairymen have SCC and lab reports in their hands in two days from test day, it allows them to effectively manage SCC in their herds.

PROFIT POINTERS

During July and August the average SCC for Lancaster DHIA was 407,000. The average SCC is usually around 360,000. These elevated counts mean many dairymen are losing premiums from the dairy. Using the DHIA Lab Report (CMR #6) will help you pick out the problem cows. In smaller herds two or three cows may be causing fifty percent of the SCC and culling one cow may give you a ten or twenty cent premium on all your milk. Let us look at this report.

1. In this example the herd average SCC is 498,000. If the dairyman would treat or withhold Sill, his SCC would drop to 310,000. If he would withhold Sill and Beth his SCC would drop to 251,000. Withholding the top three, the SCC would be 216,000.

2. Do not only look at what the cows SCC is this month but also her last test and average for the lactation. One high count may not be a concern but a high SCC for the entire lacation should raise flags.

3. Look at the cow's rating. A "D" or "E" rated cow may be on your cull list anyway, so you could send her out now and lower your SCC. A high SCC cow on your cull list may only return a couple dollars over feed cost and lose a ten cent premium on all your milk.

4. Every time you cut your SCC in half (reduce one code score) you gain 1½ lbs. milk per day per cow. A fifty cow herd would return almost $3,000 per year if you could cut the SCC in half.

5. Look the Lab Report over carefully to help you manage the udder health of your herd.

The young Jersey breeders purchased their animals in the Pot O'Gold Sale in Louisville, Ky., or the Western National Pot O'Gold Sale in Puyallup, Wash.

The 12 winners in the 1995 contest shared a pot of $7,548. Awards will be presented during All American activities in Louisville, on Nov. 4. West Coast winners were presented their awards at the Western National Jersey events on Sept. 12 and 13 in Puyallup.

AJCA junior members between the ages of seven and 19 enter the Pot O'Gold Production Contest by purchasing one of 22 animals consigned to either the Western National Pot O'Gold Sale in Puyallup, or the All American Pot O'Gold Sale in Louisville. York Holds Junior Livestock Sale

Joyce Bupp
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Pound for pound, a cake outsold any other lot offered during the York County Junior Livestock Sale. The sale was hosted September 16 at the York Fair as a finale to the junior livestock shows that ran throughout the nine-day event.

In what has become a tradition over the past several years, a sheet cake decorated with beef, sheep and swine figures opened the annual sale to heated bidding. Baker and decorator of the annual sale kickoff cake is Lois Rankin, county extension service assistant and a long-time volunteer with the 4-H program.

And, in keeping with another tradition, buyers of the cake kept donating it back for resale, with proceeds earmarked for the junior livestock programs. Six buyers turned back the cake before it was finally purchased by the York County Pork Producers, for $120, to be shared by those attending the sale.

A total $1025 raised by the "bake sale" included donations from buyers Joan Grim, Thomasville, $135, Glen Rock State Bank, $170, Delwood Kitchens, $170, Southcentral Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, $120, Dr. C. Jerry Stinson, Stewartstown, $180, and Hatfield Quality Meats, $130.

Equally-spirited bidding greeted the first champion through the ring, the 1207-pound winning market steer exhibited by Thomasville 4-Her Kelly Myers. Bids quickly ran up to $5.00 per pound, with Hoss's Steak and Sea House holding out to the end to be the successful buyer. The regional restaurant chain is supporter of many years of area junior livestock events.

Following into the ring was the reserve grand champion market steer, a 1297-pound crossbred exhibited by 4-H member Shawn Waltimyer, Airville. Blaine Rentzel, who worked the sale with Lebanon County auctioneer Harry Bachman, made the final winning bid of $1.10 on behalf of his Rentzel's Auctioneering Service.

Highest bid price per pound for the champion lineup went to the purple-ribboned lamb, exhibited by Mike Burrell of Dover. The 15-year-old first grand champion winner's lamb weighed in at 119 pounds and commanded a heady $8.00 per pound from Russell Horn, Sr.

Thomasville 4-Her Adam Sellers followed in the sale of champions with the reserve market lamb. His 118-pound crossbred brought a final bid of $2.35 per pound, purchased by Lebanon Valley National Bank.

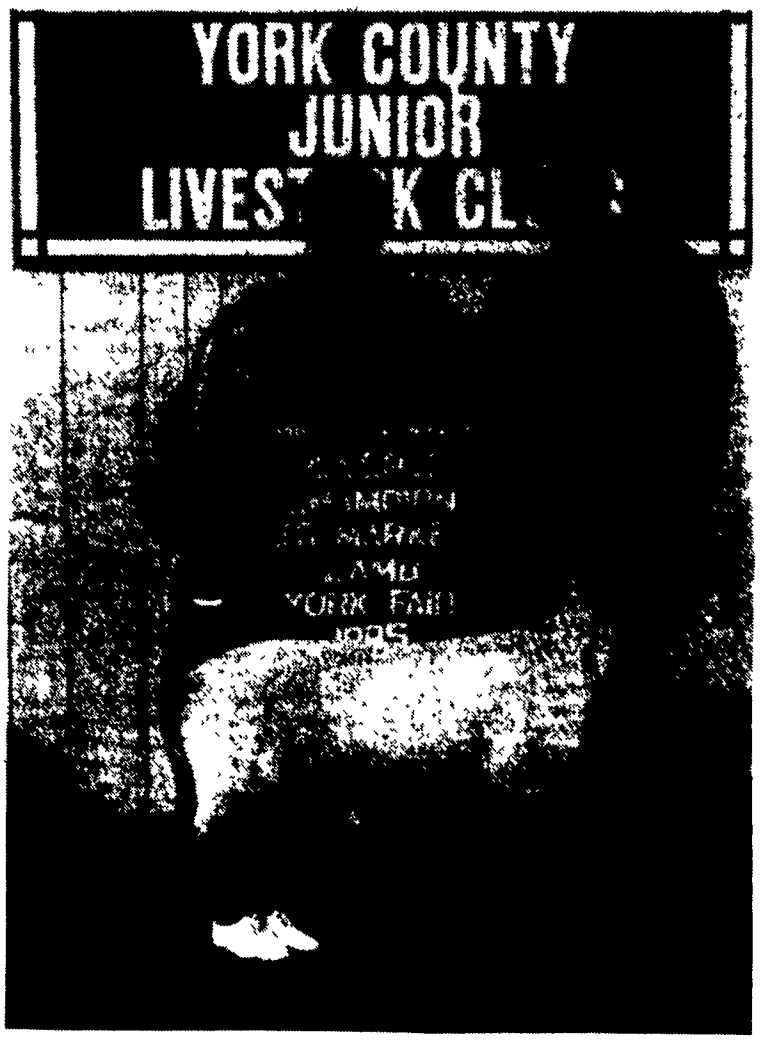
A $6.25 per pound bid took the grand champion market hog, a 228-pound gilt exhibited by Tammi Grubb, Hanover. Winning bidder was Delwood Kitchens, with the buyers planning to retain the gilt for breeding stock.

Jason Frantz, Seven Valleys, wrapped up the sale's champion offerings with his reserve-placing market hog. Final bid on the 236-pound reserve winner stopped at $5.00 per pound, with the runner-up pig selling to Doug Tilley, an associate of Crabtree Rohrbaugh and Associates architectural firm.

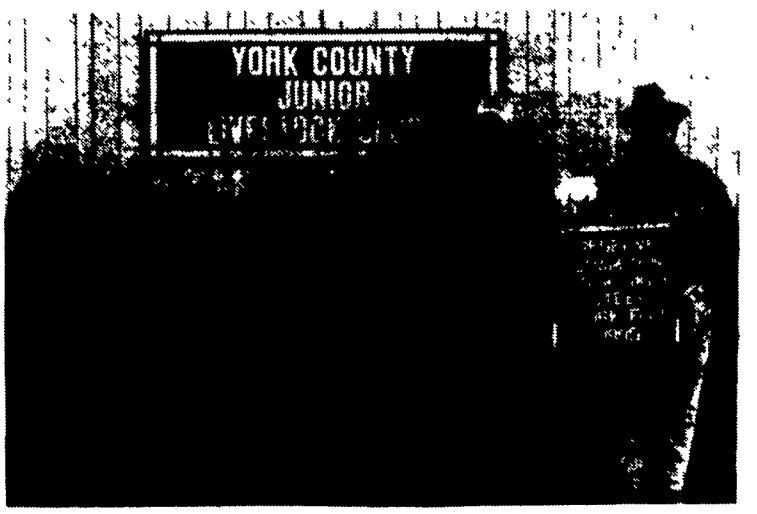
Largest lot buyer of the sale was Hatfield Quality Meats, which purchased 15 head of swine in addition to participating in the fund-raising cake sale. Hatfield is a frequent and long-time supporter of regional junior livestock sales and events.

Nearly 200 total head of livestock sold in the sale. The 96 hogs, with the champion, averaged 241 pounds in weight and a price of $1.11 per pound. Without the champion, the weight average was 242 pounds and the price was $1.02.

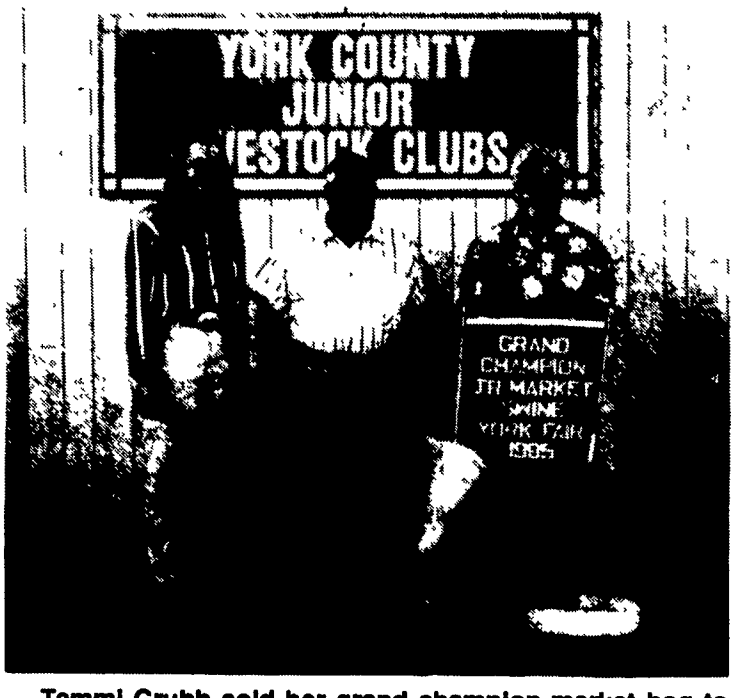
Average weight of the 74 lambs sold was 106 pounds. Price, with the champion, averaged $1.39 per pound; without the champion, price average was $1.27 per pound.



Adam Sellers sold his reserve champion market lamb to Mike Firestine, Lebanon Valley National Bank.



Shawn Waltimyer sold his reserve champion market steer to Blain Rentzel, Rentzel's Auction Service.



Tammi Grubb sold her grand champion market hog to Charles and Evelyn Grubb, Delwood Kitchens.

pound.

The 24 steers, including the champion, averaged a weight of 1177 pounds and a price of $1.05. Without the champion, the average was 1170 pounds and 86 cents.

Grand Slam Pays Big Premium To Ephrata Commodity Exhibitor

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Last week, Robert Fox brought his ag commodities to the Ephrata Fair Grain Tent for the "blue ribbon contests" — and walked away with more than $300 in premiums, including $250 alone for winning the big contest.

That "big contest" at Ephrata is the annual Grand Slam Award, which provides overall points for exhibits and awards a monetary sum of $250 for the champion exhibitor.

Fox, Lititz, scored a total of 53 points, and bested (by a wide margin) the totals of Steven Strauss, Ephrata, first runner-up and Gerald Martin, Ephrata, second runner-up in the contest.

Fox's score included points awarded for seven first places, three second places, and two third places.

Strauss had three firsts, three seconds, and one third place for a total of 30 points. Martin totaled 23 points from his three first places and two second places in Grain Tent judging at the recent fair.

The concept of the Grand Slam award was the result of a decision of the exhibits planning committee to arose interest among exhibitors. The more exhibits, and the greater quality of exhibits, contributes to not only the $250 monetary award but the premium money paid for ribbons, according to Henry F. Keener, co-chair of the Ephrata Fair Tent Committee.

Last year's exhibitor took home a total of $400 in prize money, said Keener.

Pinkie Is Frederick Grand Champion

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

FREDERICK, Md. — Fran Liz Symbol Pinkie, a 5-year-old Lar-Lin Dixie Lee Symbol daughter bred and owned by the Franklin Stottlemyer family, Fran-Liz Farm, took grand champion female honors at the Great Frederick Fair.

Pinkie also swept the cow 5 years and over and senior champion female 2 years and over classes, and boosted Fran-Liz Farm to the top of 3 group classes including best 3 females 2 years and over, dairy herd, and dam and daughter. The cow took a red ribbon in the cow any age, judged on udder alone class.

Judge Norman Hill of Woodbine selected Pinkie from a field of approximately 130 entrants in what he termed a "good country show." He was pleased with the balance of her udder quarter to quarter, and called her "extremely shapely from end to end." The 5-year-old was recently classified permanent E. The Stottlemyers were glad to finally have an opportunity to show Pinkie at Frederick. "She's been at home calving in past years," said Vivian Stottlemyer. She was selected first place dry cow at the district show two years in a row.

Twenty-two classes were shown at the Holstein show held Sept. 20 at the Frederick County Fairgrounds. "It's a pleasure to work with farmers who make a living at this rather than doing it as a hobby," said Hill, who judges at the national level.

After earning the grand champion rosette, Fran-Liz Farm went on to edge out Richard and Patti Kepler's Knob-View Holsteins in the dairy herd class to capture yet another blue ribbon. The group of four Fran-Liz cows that had freshened had the advantage in "bloom of udder and uniformity of udder capacity" according to Judge Hill. The two farms also went head to head in the best 3 females 2 years and over, bred and owned by the same exhibitor category, with Fran-Liz taking the blue once again.

Junior champion female under 2 years of age went to Darren Remsburg's first place senior yearling heifer, Tri-Day Encore Imelda, out of Marcrest Encore. Judge Hill was impressed by the heifer's angularity and dairyness. Imelda was last year's senior heifer calf champion.

In the junior heifer calf class, O-C-S Dairy won the blue ribbon for O-C-S Dairy Caria Carlo, a Kings Brook Matt Carlo daughter. Second place went to Knob View Holsteins' Knob View Charles Suzy, and coming in third was Gentle-Brook Wildfire Count, owned by Josh Strite.

The intermediate heifer calf class was won by O-C-S Dairy with OCS DAiry Phil Taylor, followed by Shafdon Inspiration Eve owned by Bryan Shafer in second. Third place went to T.J. Remsburg for Brooke-Lodge Brooke Lou Anne - ET.

Senior heifer calf was Md-Garden-Spot Jamie, owned by MD-Garden-Spot Farm. Heather Molesworth had the second place winner with Knob View Stardust Honey, while O-C-S Dairy's OCS Dairy Garth Reba came in third.

Summer yearling heifer top honors went to MD-Dun-Lawn Jed Sophie - ET, owned by Darren Remsburg. Second place was awarded to Guy-Dell Prophet Maddona, owned by Autumn Guyton. Third place winner was Len-Land Acres Encore Lilly, owned by Len-Land Acres.

Knob-View Holsteins gathered the blue for junior yearling heifer with Knob View Inspiration Kit. In second place was Fran-Liz Farms's Fran-Liz Raider Lilac. Rounding out the category was third place winner Stephanie Wolf with her heifer Good-Faith Astre Lolly.

Len-Land Acres took home a blue for the intermediate yearling heifer Len-Land Acres IFC Monica. Coming in second was Mendelssohn Encore Dix, owned by Wendy Murphy. Third place went to C Dougridge Broker Shannon, owned by Donald Lentzner Jr.

The final heifer class, senior yearling heifer, was won by the junior champion female Triday Encore Imelda, a heifer owned by Darren Remsburg. In second and third place, respectively, were Len-Land Acres Tab Mabel, owned by Len-Land Acres, and Good-Faith Jess Belle, owned by Darren Wolf.

Nine farms competed for the junior best 3 females, bred and owned by the same exhibitor. Coming in first was Knob-View Holsteins, followed by O-C-S Dairy, with Len-Land Acres rounding out the class in third.

Old-Line Mel Lynn was named best cow, junior 2-year-old. She was a senior heifer calf that had calved out, owned by Dool-Leigh Farm. Second place was awarded to Dublin Hills Black Velvet, owned by Dublin Hills Farm. In third place was Knob View Raider Dora, another entry from Knob-View Holsteins.

Cow, senior 2-year-old top place went to Len-Land Acres Skybuck Bren, owned by Len-Land Acres. MD-Garden Spot Raynell Wendy, MD-Garden-Spot Farm, took second place. Catochreek Stardom Tammy, owned by Tara Wolf, rounded out the class in third.

Fran-Liz Farm's Fran Liz Symbol Pinkie is grand champion female. At Pinkie's halter is Vivian Stottlemyer, with parents Franklin and Elizabeth.

Knob-View Holsteins added to their collection of ribbons with another blue in the cow, 3-year-old class. Their winning entry was Knob View Eminent Jenny. Second place went to Fran Liz H W Sparkle, and third was awarded to another Fran-Liz cow, Fran-Liz Black Genie.

The Fran-Liz streak of wins was complemented by another blue in the cow, 4-year-old class won by Fran Liz Tesk Laurie. Second place in the 4-year-olds was awarded to Knob View Tarbuck Doreen, owned by Knob-View Holsteins. Third went to Dublin Hills Farm's Dublin Hills Bonton Bonnie.

Cow, 5 years and over top honors went to Fran Liz Symbol Pinkie, as stated above. C Melrosa Insp Delight, owned by Kepler, Mercuro, and Lenhart, came in second. Dool-Leigh Farm brought home the third place win with C-Cool-Springs Quill.

The dry cow category, entries to which must have freshened at least one, was an opportunity for Josh Grossnickle to take a blue with his PHH Coldspring Inspire Bar. C. Bargeolane Melvin Candy, owned by Kepler, Mercuro, and Lenhart was second. Riggs-Lane Luke Shady, owned by Cory Flook, rounded out the class.

In the produce of dam class, Fran-Liz Farm was first, a pair owned by Millard Shafer placed second, and third was awarded to an entry by Darren Wolf.

First through third placings in the best uddered class were Dool-Leigh Farm, Fran-Liz Farm, and Knob-View Holsteins, respectively.

Judge Norman Hill chose first place senior yearling heifer Tri-Day Encore Imelda as the junior champion female. At the halter is 17-year-old Darren Remsburg, the son of Denny and Marsha Remsburg, Jefferson.

'Biosolids' Focus Of Field Day

Recently, a Biosolids Field Day was held at the Ephrata Area Wastewater Treatment Plant and featured tours of the facility and a trip to a nearby farm.

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Recently, a Biosolids Field Day was held at the Ephrata Area Wastewater Treatment Plant and featured tours of the facility and a trip to a nearby farm.

The free tour and farm trip pointed out how wastewater sludge, or biosolids, can be a valuable nutrient resource for farmers.

The event was a cooperative effort between the facility, the Lancaster County Biosolids Generators Council, the Lancaster County Conservation District, the county extension service, and other organizations.

Many farmers and industry representatives were on hand for the day, which included a tour of a nearby farm to show how biosolids directly benefit the farmer.

For more information, contact Jay R. Snyder, director of wastewater systems for the facility, at (717) 738-9282.

CHESTER COUNTY HOLSTEIN BANQUET

The Chester County Holstein Club will hold their annual banquet on Thursday, October 26, 1995 at 7:00 p.m. at the West Fallowfield Christian School, Atglen, PA. John, a Holstein breeder from Pennsylvania, is a past president and director of the Pennsylvania Holstein Assocation.

As a result of profits from the sale of cheese, the club is able to offer a great turkey dinner at a bargain price for 1995. The cost is $5.00 for adults, $3.00 for children ages 3 to 10 and under 3 years old is free. For reservations, contact one of the following directors by Wednesday, October 18, 1995: Stan Guest (610) 469-6627; Dale Hostetter (610) 593-7181; Jane Pepple (610) 932-3975.

There will again be several standard awards plus some new ones. High protein awards will be made to a 2 year old and a mature cow. There will also be youth awards for 4-H and FFA. In addition, the following awards will be made based on information supplied by members when they call in their reservations: High BAA; High lifetime milk production; For animals owned by youth: High 2 year old for protein; High cow for protein.

DAIRY FOOT AND LEG CARE BARN MEETING

On Friday, October 27, 1995 from 10:00 a.m. to 12 noon there will be a very practical barn meeting at the Century Oak Farm of Stan and Kathy Guest. The topic will be on how to handle foot and leg problems in today's dairy herds. Dr. Dale A. Moore, Penn State Extension Veterinarian, will be conducting the program with M. Dale Herr, a foot trimmer from Lititz, PA. The farm is located on Prizers Road, west of Route 100 and south of Pughtown. For more complete directions call Stan (610) 469-6627 or the Extension office (610) 696-3500.

Subjects covered will include cattle foot anatomy, weight distribution, proper foot trimming and diseases such as laminitis, foot rot and heel warts. Foot and leg problems are more prevalent on dairy farms today. Many cows do not see pasture or exercise lots. In addition, heel warts/strawberry warts/hairy warts are showing up in more herds. Milk production and profits can take a real nosedive when cows have either acute or chronic foot problems. These problems can be prevented with proper foot and leg care. Registration is requested. Ten registrations are needed to conduct the session. Please call the Extenstion Office (610) 696-3500 by October 25, 1995 and give your name and phone number.

FORAGE DRY MATTER INTAKE

With all the weather problems dairy farmers have experienced in 1995, there is an urgent need to monitor forage dry matter intake for the dairy ration. The summer heat, drought conditions and early maturity resulted in varying degrees of moisture in haycrop and corn silage. There was probably more dry corn silage put up this year than in any recent year. Consequently, if your are measuring the same weight of forage in your TMR and the silage is drier than the sample that was used to formulate the ration, your forage dry matter intake will be out of balance. The key is to check to dry matter on all high moisture feeds weekly with the use of a digital scale and microwave oven. By constantly monitoring dry matter, production losses can be adverted. Also, by detecting low moisture silage, problems such as mycotoxins and poor fermentation can be found.

MMI Distributes $2.2 Million

STRONGSVILLE, Ohio — Milk Marketing Inc. (MMI) returned more than $2.2 million in patronage earnings to its dairy farm families, announced Don Schriver, executive vice president and CEO, and Herman Brubaker, chair and president of MMI's board of directors.

Checks were mailed to MMI members on Sept. 21.

"The 100-percent cash distribution represents 5 cents per hundredweight of the actual milk pounds that producers marketed through MMI during the period of July 1, 1994 through June 30, 1995," Schriver explained. "The distribution represents members' share of earnings made in fiscal year 1995 by MMI's manufacturing arm, Farmer Dairy Foods Inc. (FDF).

"We were able to distribute these earnings because MMI's FDF operations had a good year, plus, MMI is financially strong and healthy," said Schriver. In fiscal year 1995, MMI marketed and processed more than 7.1 billion pounds or 824 million gallons of milk and generated revenues of just over $1 billion.

Brubaker, a dairy producer from West Alexandria, Ohio, reported that MMI's board of directors approved the $2.2 million cash distribution at its last meeting.

"We are pleased to be able to return these earnings to producers during this tough time for dairy farmers," said Brubaker. "This is a special check. Only those producers who marketed their milk cooperatively through MMI last year received this payment. It's definitely a benefit of MMI membership."

MMI is the region's largest dairy producer-owned cooperative and the 73rd largest U.S. food company. Headquartered in Strongsville, Ohio, MMI is owned by 9,000 dairy farm families in an 11-state area, including Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New York, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Vermont and Delaware.

and in helping other people better enjoy their involvement.

He said that 250 years ago his family came from Switzerland to settle and farm near his current home. He talked briefly about family involvement in agriculture and his Paso Fino horses, that he breeds. He said he had been getting up at 5:15 a.m. for a couple days in a row in order to fine tune his riding skills with a 2-year-old stallion he intended to ride during a KILE event.

From the left, receiving plaques commemorating being named Pennsylvania Livestock Association youth award winners are Dennis Ackley for brother Thomas, Laurie Wildman, Cathy Stewart chairperson of the awards committee, Mandy Hutcheson and Michael Kowalewski.

In other awards presentations, Cathy Stewart, chairperson of the Youth Award Winners Committee, introduced the four recipients of the awards.

Awards were presented to Thomas Ackley of Westfield, Laurie Wildman of Westfield, Mandy Hutcheson of Blairsville, and Michael Kowalewski of Forest City.

Charles Itle, manager of the KILE, gave an overview of the event and the additions. It continues to grow annually. There are thousands of animals.

A highlight of the KILE are its horse shows — especially a challenge of the breeds competition held last night, and draft-horse competitions set for tonight in the Large Arena.

A six-horse hitch competition is a qualifying event in the North American Six Horse Hitch Classic Series and horse enthusiasts are drawn to the event (tickets required) in a strong showing.

This year, there has been an eight-horse hitch competition added. In its first year, Itle said there were 13 entries for that competition.

Large sheep shows, swine shows and beef shows continue to attract livestock breeders from around the country.

There are stockman contests for youth, special events, demonstrations, and educational displays, such as an exhibit of each of the sheep breeds with a history on the origin and development of the breed.

There is no other event in the state that can compare in offerings for both the livestock enthusiast and the interested visitor.

NEW ALLIANCE™ FORAGE UNLOADER

Alliance Unloader Control Panel

After start up:

1. Turn automatic switch to "ON"
2. Push "FORWARD" unloader control to start operation
3. Turn automatic switch to "SHUT DOWN" to end operation

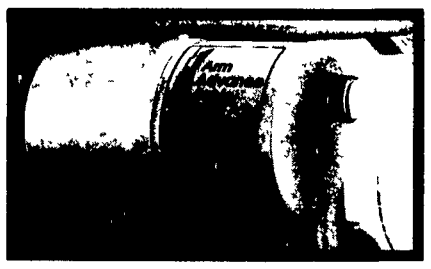
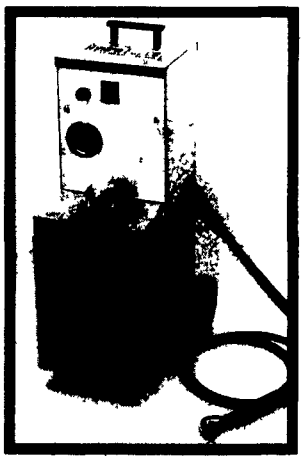
Consistent Delivery...



Arm Advance Sentry™ Electro-Mechanical Actuator

The Arm Advance Sentry™ arm control automatically monitors the length of time the cutter chain arm advances into the forage material. It also automatically cycles the time of material clean out. This advance-hold-advance-hold sequence results in more consistent delivery; less chance of bog down or reduced speed because of too much arm force; and more consistent loading of the motor. Only minor adjustments are required after initial dealer set-up -- even as the forage material changes.

Built-In Chain Oiling...



Alliance Hydra Force™ H.P. Oil Unit

Built in to the Alliance unloader are spray nozzles with the ability to force oil onto the cutter and conveyor chains when used with the Hydra-Force™ H.P. oil spray unit*. This mobile unit uses a high pressure pump design to force lubrication through the system. When used regularly, oil then penetrates through the forage material to effectively reach the top of the chain, underneath the side bars, and between pins and bushings.

Plus...Uncomplicated Operation and Maintenance Features

- New flared nose trough* for increased discharge capacity of the conveyor chain
- New backbone design features built-in floor supports and backbone wear strips
- New greasing system greases center post shafts and bearings plus all gears
- New arm support wheel has a 33% greater width plus increased depth of hardness
- New high torque 10 horsepower motor and control

Alliance™ Forage Unloader

optional*

The new Alliance unloader brings together Harvestore Product's in-depth bottom unloader experience and unites it with the engineered application of modern design.

The Alliance unloader can now be seen at authorized Harvestore Products dealers, who have additional specifications. Call today for more information.

Woman Flies Through Gender Barriers

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

PENNSYLVANIA FURNACE (Centre Co.)—Aileen Homan of Pennsylvania Furnace, Centre County, believes if you have something to offer, you should get involved. Because of her committment, she serves in such diverse organizations as the Centre County Solid Waste Authority, the Land Preservation Board, Hospice and The International Flying Farmers (IFF).

Recently elected the first female officer in the 4,500-member International Flying Farmer organization, Homan accepted the position of secretary after holding every office in the Pennsylvania Flying Farmers chapter. She became Pennsylvania's first female president. She flies through gender barriers like she and her husband, Elwood, fly through invisible state lines. But to Aileen, serving in any organization is not a gender issue. She serves because she has something to contribute. If she breaks through equality barriers in the process, she said she's glad to have done it, but that it's not her main reason for getting involved.

By accepting the position of secretary of the international group, Aileen accepts the organizations' five-year "up through the ranks" policy—and the job of president in four years. Each person elected as secretary accepts a role change each year—from secretary to treasurer to vice president to president and, finally, to past president.

"I told my husband, 'Don't worry. I won't get it!'" Aileen says of her reaction when asked to run for secretary of the international organization. "But I look at the men who have been president, and their wives have done a lot. Anything I have ever done, Elwood has been supportive. I believe you should stand up for what you believe."

Retired dairy farmers, Elwood and Aileen joined IFF in 1952. A licensed pilot at that time, Elwood still flies over "Happy Valley" just about every evening, taking off from their grass airstrip in the field just past the barn. Aileen soloed in 1955 and logged 40 hours of time towards her pilot's license. But being at home to raise their eight children took top priority over getting her license during the following years.

The Homan's own a J3 Cub airplane, an antique two-seater which was made in Lock Haven in 1946. Refurbished in 1988, Aileen says their cub doesn't take them too far too fast, but that Elwood keeps it in immaculate condition. In spite of that, a lightweight aircraft is no match for a strong headwind.

"A long time ago, we flew to Philadelphia for a meeting in June. Flying the Cub home, we flew and flew and flew. Elwood said the trucks and cars were going faster than we were! We were in a terrible headwind. We got as far as Big Valley (Miffling County) and just couldn't get over the mountain, so we landed in a field and tied the airplane to a hay rake!" Aileen says she's always looking for field in which to land as they fly. "We do have nice valleys to land in."

At least three family members have taken an interest in flying. One son crop farms the 200-tillable acre homested, Nine Oaks, and has worked towards his license, including soloing. One daughter serves as treasurer for the state organization. Her husband is learning to fly. Their youngest daughter's husband is also learning to fly. Another daughter was a flight attendant for Pan Am.

Aileen says most members of the Flying Farmers are working farmers. Some use their planes in their business, such as in transporting embryos. Other fly transplant patients to hospitals. Overall, Aileen says they are a very congenial, nice, happy group.

As secretary, Aileen will correspond for the group. The treasurer, a man from Nebraska; takes charge of the finances. The vice president, from Saskatchewan, is in charge of the organization's yearly July or August convention.

The newly-elected International Flying Farmer secretary Aileen Homan stands in front of the many awards she and her husband, Elwood, have received over time.

The current president, from Indiana, plans their yearly January workshop.

Aileen spent three days recently getting acquainted with the main IFF office in Wichita, Kansas. One of her concerns is getting young agriculturally oriented people involed in IFF. "It's hard to get young people involved," she says. "They can't afford to get their license (a $5,000 investment without the plane) or they are spending their time farming. We try to make our conventions affordable and timely."

The Pennsylvania organization, with a little more than 100 members, meets once a month of a business meeting, to tour local points of interest, and to visit with each other. Dues are $50 per year with teens and juniors added for a minimal fee. Twenty teens participated in the convention last year, electing their own officers, and they use convention time to work towards their license. Aileen says the Junior division, up to 12 years old, is a very active group with 25 members. The parent organizations provide several scholarships for youth pursuing their license.

But while Aileen concentrates on her new duties as secretary, her son at Nine Oaks has something else in mind—extending the length their 1,200-foot airstrip. After all, he reasons, a secretary of an international organization should have a longer runway!

For more information about these organizations, contact Aileen Homan at 5190 West Whitehall Road, Pennsylvania Furance, PA 16865.

The Homan's J3 Cub plane was built in Lock Haven in 1946.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

Do Teen-agers Need Parents As Much As Children Need Them?

Do teens need parents as much as younger children do? One of the more alarming trends seen by professionals in the field of adolescent development is the number of teenagers who are left to their own devices to raise themselves, although they still live at home with their parents. We wouldn't purposely let our children become chronic underachievers in school or diet to the point of anorexia but in our hectic lives we sometimes forget: Teens need their parents every bit as much as younger children to. Teens can fool us sometimes by talking a good game, but they are neighter emotionally nor physically mature enough to care for themselves.

The teen years are full of change and can be scary. During this time they need much nurturing and attention. Here are some ways to "be there" for your teens:

•Be available. Being just physically present isn't enough. Be a good listener, show interest in what's going on in their lives. Become as "askable parent" so your teens will be able to come to you when needed.

•Keep your problesm to yourself. Don't put adult problesm on adolescents. They have enough problesm. Parents who use their children as confidants, rob children of their childhood.

•Be nurturing, both verbally and physically. Often we think our kids know we love them but the words "I love you" can't be spoken too often. The same holds true for a hug or even a tuck-up in bed. "Have you hugged your child today" applies to teenagers, too.

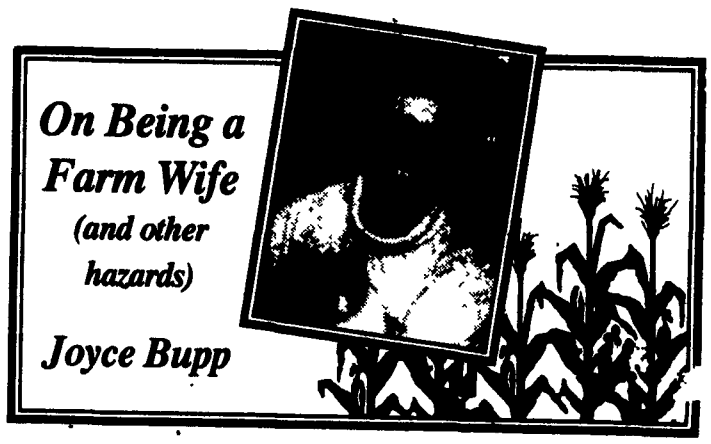
•Be companionable—studies show that teens want to spend time together as a family even though they begin to spend more and more time away from home. Extend an invitation to your teen to do something together. Sometimes all a kid is waiting for is to be asked.

•Don't assume the other adults in your teenager's life will cue you in. Teens may confide in parents of their friends but don't assume these parents will give you the scoop. Too often parents fear losing their children's confidence so much that they won't pass information on to other parents.

•Be alert. Pay attention to any discrepancy between what a teen says and what they do or how they look. Changes in physical appearance can be early warning signs of disrupted sleep, unhealthy eating patterns or the use of alcohol and other drugs. Don't ignor what's right before your eyes.

•Intervene when necessary. If you suspect your child is making choices that are harmful to themselves, let them know you know and get help.

•Passivity (yours and theirs) can be the most damaging of all. Teenagers don't have the resources to help themselves. You may need to seek professional help.



I'm confused. But then, as my family would probably tell you, it doesn't take much...

For the umpteenth time in the last two months, fallen leaves are piling up around the house. They've been tumbling for weeks now, ever since the Sahara-Desert weather set in back there in August. Raking leaves? In August? And, they didn't turn golden yellow like our maple leaves normally do in late October—just shriveled up and plopped to the ground. Heat stroke, no doubt.

By mid-September, we went digging under an accumulation of those sickly-looking leaves for a few leftover pieces of firewood. An early start-up of the woodstove was needed when overnight temperatures shivered down to the low-forties. Our shaded, dampness-prone, brick house took on all the welcoming warmth and coziness of a cave.

A couple of days and a half-inch of rain later, the lawn was greasing up like it does in April. And the drought-victim lawn mower, out of use so long it's slow-leak tire had gone totally flat. Before tending to the tire, The Farmer dumped the load of firewood he had hauled in from the woods on the front-end loader tractor, against continuing hints of near-frosty mornings.

My pansy seedlings are sturdy and thrifty, the young geraniums started from seed have just begun to bloom, a small row of string beans is full of blossoms—and the tomato plants have cheefully pushed out a whole new generation of growth. And I'm potting up all sorts of little surprise volunteer seedlings turning up around the flower beds, like impatiens and wax begonias.

Is it fall that looks like spring, or spring when the calendar says fall? I'm not the only one confused.

A few weeks ago, our dwindling guinea flock (two) tripled when a friend donated four of the noisy birds residing on his farm. However, his four newcomers and our two long-time residents shunned associating with each other. Birds of a feather do not always flock together—regardless of what you've heard.

Our two long-timers hang out around the house and calf barns, screaming and screeching their way to roost in the old barn every evening about calf-feeding time—so they're easy to track. The four new guineas, however, are more shy. They homesteaded around the tall, grassy areas near the pasture pond, and manure lagoon. I rarely saw them.

But apparently, they're confused by what season it is, too. Three weeks ago, they collectively hatched out more than a dozen chicks. Chicks? In September? Guineas normally hatch in early summer.

"Have you seen the guinea chicks lately?" asked The Farmer about a week after the reported hatch. Fact was, I hadn't seen them at all, just heard about them.

"The foxes must be at it again," he guessed. Just a few weeks before, I'd watched two beautiful foxes hunt through a newly-cut hayfield below the house, on a bright, sun-washed morning. Brazen foxes have come right into the back yard more than once to snag a nesting guinea mother and her babies.

But a few days later, he spied the flock of 15 brown-stiped, orange-legged chicks and three guarding adults, scratching around on the dirt field road. The one guinea still missing we speculated might be standing tight somewhere on another nest.

Yesterday, I discovered a handful of guinea feathers scattered under the wash line, barely 20 feet from the house. Reminding us again that, while the goofy weather confuses us, there is only one season when it comes to fox and fowl.

Bring In Herbs Before Frost

COLLEGEVILLE (Montgomery Co.)—There are quite a few herbs we enjoy growing that are considered tender perennials which means in plain English that they will not overwinter. Herbs such as sweet marjoram, scented geraniums, lemon verbena, corisca mint, lemon grass, pineapple sage and rosemary are a few of the "tender" perennial herbs that need to be repotted or dug from the garden and brought in for the winter. If the herb was planted in the garden, cut back the root system as well as the top by about one-third so that there will be minimal shock when bringing it inside. When you cut back the herb to bring inside try making stem cuttings about 2 to 4 inches long so that you have something to fall back on if the mother plant doesn't survive. Make a stem cutting by cutting about 1/4 inch below a node (where the leaves are attached to the stem). It is suggested to use a rooting hormone with a fungicide added because it encourages quicker rooting, a healthier root system and it helps you sleep better nights knowing you done your best. When repotting your herbs, choose a container only slightly bigger than the root system and use a sterile, soilless mix instead of garden soil.

Often, herbs brought inside suffer from inadequate light, high home temperatures and low humidity. To remedy this problem, consider growing your herbs under florescent lights that you have put on a timer for 12-16 hours of light per day. Rosemary is a very difficult herb to overwinter because it needs cool temperatures and is unforgiving if you forget to water it. Most homes during the winter months are too warm, the humidity is too low and the light is minimal; so growing under lights is a very desirable option.

Fall Is For Planting

COLLEGEVILLE (Montgomery Co.)—Although trees and shrubs can be successfully planted just about anytime if done correctly, planting in the fall gives the plants certain advantages. When trees and shrubs are planted in the fall, the roots are able to begin to become established without a lot of demand from the tree canopy for water and nutrients. Woody plants are not putting on growth above, but sending manufactured carbohydrates down to the roots for winter storage. The roots will continue growth until the ground freezes much later in the season. Thus the roots get off to a good start before the demand of new spring growth is upon them.

Many of the tree-planting techniques practiced in the past have been found to be detrimental to tree health. Deep, highly amended planting holes have resulted in sunken plants with trapped roots, leading to early decline of the tree. Current recommended practices include a planting hole that is wide as opposed to deep—with a minimum of 3 times the diameter of the rootball; loosening and mixing existing soil without adding amendments; setting the tree on solid ground in the center of the planting hole at the same depth as it was planted in the nursery, or, in the case of heavy, clay soils, an inch or two above the soil line. In this case, build up the soil to the root collar. Apply two to four inches of mulch to cover the entire prepared area. Do not put mulch within 6-8 inches of the tree trunk. Water newly planted trees once a week, thoroughly soaking the entire planting area.

Remove any trunk wrapping or protective tape, unless the tree's bark has been broken or disturbed. Only if needed, stake the tree with a flexible wood or metal stake so it can bend with the wind. Use a small section of rubber inner tube to hold the tree for the first six months.

Fall Garden Clean-Up

COLLEGEVILLE (Montgomery Co.)—After seeking that last bit of production out of the vegetable garden, don't forget to do those last few chores that will make getting started again next year somewhat easier. Remove any diseased plant material from the garden. Most disease organisms overwinter quite nicely on garden debris and if left and tilled in will provide plenty of innoculum for next year's crop. Can diseased plant material be composted? If you maintain a hot compost, most disease organisms will be killed. The compost should reach a temperature of 140 degrees F in order to accomplish this. Clean plant debris may be left in the garden and tilled in to increase organic matter in the soil. A rough fall tilling is often a good idea. Winter freezing and thawing action will break down the large soil clods somewhat. Fall tilling also allows for better drainage and is helpful in getting into the garden a little earlier in the spring following the snow melt.

This is also a perfect time to have your garden soil tested. A soil test will show you exactly what nutrients need to be added to your garden, and adding them in the fall allows the nutrients to be fully incorporated. Soil test kits can be purchased at your county cooperative extension office.

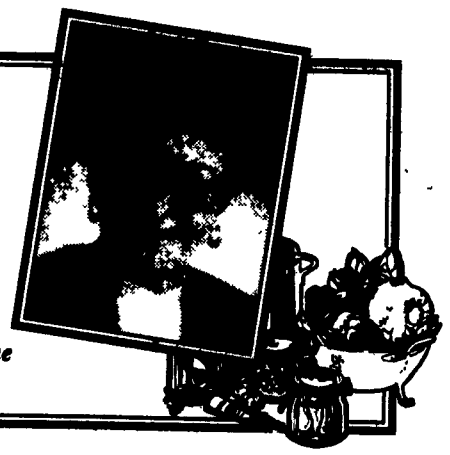
Consuming Thoughts

by

Fay Strickler

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.



Sweet Spanish onions, on the market from September through March, have long been recognized for their mild flavor and subtle sweetness. Moreover, they still are the largest variety of onion grown, reaching diameters up to 5 inches. The Sweet Spanish onions can be identified by their round, globular shape and thin, parchment-like skin that crackles to the touch. Their familiar nickname, the "Gentle Giant," has made it easier to remember the unique features of these onions.

Thirty percent of all of the onions on the market during the fall and winter are grown in and shipped from southwestern Idaho and eastern Oregon. There, ideal growing conditions prevail and informed growers take pride in producing a quality product. Consumers will be pleased to know that all onions are USDA inspected.

Sweet Spanish onions are marvelous "keepers." Like all varieties of onions they should be stored at home in a cool, dry, well ventilated place. A loosely woven bag, basket or crate is a good receptacle. Once cut, place the onions in a plastic bag or tightly covered container and keep them refrigerated.

Nutrition-wise Sweet Spanish onions provide important benefits, including vitamin C and B-vitamins and several minerals. And for weight watchers, they're a joy! One hundred grams contain only 38 calories.

Sweet Spanish onions are a perfect match for the convenience of modern-day kitchens and energy saving methods of cooking. Be it the microwave oven, the slow cooker or the pressure cooker, these plump onions can be turned into taste-appealing dishes quickly and efficiently. Handy appliances such as a food processor, blender and deep fryer also make cooking with Sweet Spanish onions a simple task. Even the freezer, long-time favorite, brings the onions up-to-date since they freeze beautifully for all year use.

Here are the most popular methods. Frozen Chopped Onions: Peel and chop Sweet Spanish onions and place them in plastic them in plastic bags or freezer containers. When ready to use, simply scoop out as many as you need with a fork and return remainder to the freezer.

Frozen Sliced Onions: Remove bronze skins from Sweet Spanish onions and slice in desired thickness. Please in single layer on baking sheet and quick-freeze. Remove from freezer and pack in plastic bags or freezer containers. Return to freezer. To use frozen onion slices, saute them in oil or butter and season to taste. Or, drizzle oil or melted butter over the slices, sprinkle with Parmesan cheese or your favorite herb, and broil or bake until tender.

This blender special can be served hot or cold. A low-fat soup may be made by using a lower fat or non-fat milk and a richer soup may be made by using cream in place of the milk.

Nice and Easy Onion-Potato Soup

2 cups chopped Sweet Spanish onions
1½ cups diced potatoes
3 cups chicken or beef broth
1½ teaspoons salt, optional
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1 tablespoon butter
chopped chives or parsley

Place onion in saucepan with potatoes, broth, salt and pepper. Bring to boil. Simmer 5 to 10 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Place in blender container. Puree until smooth. Return to saucepan. Add milk and butter. Simmer for a few minutes or until hot. Garnish with chives or parsely. Makes 4 servings.

Pork's Many Tastes

Today's pork fits well within the dietary guidelines recommended by both the American Heart Association and the National Cholesterol Education Program.

Fresh pork contains an average of 31 percent less fat after cooking and trimming than the same pork cuts reported in 1983. Pork is leaner because of significant changes made in breeding and feeding techniques.

The leanest pork comes from the loin and leg areas. If you are watching your fat intake, look for loin in the name of the cut when buying pork.

Boneless pork in a wide variety of cuts is creating consumer excitement. Only the best meat — lean hams, loins, butts and other cuts in the pink of condition are carefully selected for boneless pork. The rosy pink color is a sign that pork is blooming with freshness.

But don't limit your pork choice to boneless cuts. Old favorites such as ribs, pork chops, sausage, and ham taste wonderful and will remain an important part of tasty diets

PORK BBQ

Cook a boneless pork roast until well done (add onions while cooking, if desired). Dice meat and shred into small pieces

Sauce Mixture

1 cup catsup
⅓ cup vinegar
¼ teaspoon yellow mustard

2 tablespoons BBQ sauce
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine above ingredients and pour over meat. Simmer 30-45 minutes. Note: ground pork may be used in place of the pork roast. This dish works well simmering in a crock pot on low for several hours

Steps to Establishing A New Lawn

Early fall is a good time to start a new lawn or renovate an old one. For detailed instructions, ask for Extension Circular 412, Renovation of Lawns from your county extension office. Here's a few general steps.

Have your soil tested to determine if it needs lime or fertilizer. Take soil cores from at least 15 spots randomly over the lawn to obtain a representative sample. If you have a problem area, take separate soil samples from each.

Scrape away and discard surface debris before taking sampe. Sample to a two-or-three-inch depth. Collect the sample in a clean container. Mix the core samplings, air dry and remove roots and stones. Fill the soil test mailing container and identify the sample. Complete the Information Sheet giving all the information requested. Soil sample mailing kits are available from Penn State Cooperative Extension. The cost is $6.

Rough grade the area, removing all debris including large stones. Grade off high spots and fill low spots. You may need additional soil.

Lime according to soil test. Apply 25 to 50 pounds of limestone per 1000 square feet if no test was taken.

Apply basic fertilizer (phosphate and/or potash) according to soil test recommendations. Before an October seeding, broadcast and rake into a soil depth of 2-4 inches, 20 pounds of 0-20-20 fertilizer, per 1000 square feet plus 25 to 30 pounds per 1000 square feet of 10-5-5 fertilizer. 35 percent or more of the total nitrogen should be as water insoluable nitrogen. Rent a rototiller to till materials including organic matter, compost a fertilizer into a four-to-six-inch soil depth.

Finish grade by hand or rake to remove stones or debris. Raking is necessary to smooth the surface. If possible, allow the area to settle for about a week before final raking. A heavy watering speeds up the settling.

Apply seed by dividing total seed quantity into two equal lots, sowing one lot in one direction and the second lot at right angles to the first with a turf-type disk seeder or spreader. For more information on seed types or seed mixtures, ask for Extension Circular 391 or 395.

Rake lightly or drag area to cover seed no deeper than one-quarter inch. Don't use more seed than is recommended on the seed package. Avoid using old seed that germinated poorly. Roll area lightly to firm soil around seed.

Mulch seeded area with clean oat or wheat straw or marsh hay. Light mulches may be left on the area to decompose. But heavy mulches should be removed as soon as the grass germinates.

If rain is not expected, the seeded area should be kept moist until the seeding plants have been well established.

Reminder: Due to the non-essential water use ban associated with the drought warnings issued to 43 Eastern and Central PA counties by the PA Emergency Management Council, lawn watering is prohibited except for newly seeded and sodded grass areas between the hours of 5:00 p.m. and 9:00 a.m. by means of a hand-held hose, nozzle, bucket or pail. Stricter drought emergency bans may have been issued by your local municipality. Contact your county, township or borough office.

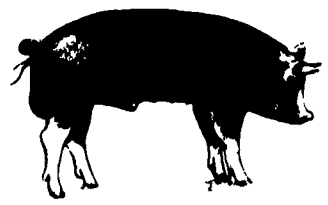
RICE COUNCIL



Fall Care Benefits Spring Bulbs

COLLEGEVILLE (Montgomery Co.) — A little attention to detail in the fall when you are purchasing spring flowering bulbs can benefit the garden next spring. When selecting bulbs for the garden, remember that they are living items with many of the same properties as other bulbs such as onions. The same criteria you apply to selecting onions for kitchen use should apply to your flowering bulbs.

In the food store you wouldn't purchase items that are soft and mushy if quality is measured as product firmness. The same is true for bulbs; they should be solid and firm when purchased. Check the surface quality of the bulbs too. Rough handling in the store or during transit will show up as bruised spots on the surface of the bulb. Rough handling will also result in missing coverings on the bulbs or even mold which results when fungi breaks into the outer skin of the bulb. Missing skins will also cause the bulbs to shrivel from loss of moisture. Shriveled bulbs are generally poorer quality and may not produce good flowers in the spring. Never purchase bulbs that have sprouted. Sprouting means they have been exposed to moisture. Bulbs that sprout before they are planted, start off weakened because they are using stored energy from inside the bulbs.

If you are buying bulbs from a nursery or garden center, look for those which carry bulbs loose in bins. This will allow you to handpick good quality bulbs. When buying bulbs, big is better because the larger the bulb, the more food the bulb has in reserve for next spring. Larger bulbs are more likely to produce stronger stems and more blooms. Initial bulb size also influences how long bulbs last.

Unless you shop around, you can't know what large is when comparing one bulb to another. Variations among species will make the selection more difficult. Become familiar with the different sizes and shapes of the bulbs you plan to purchase. Flip through a few catalogs that mention grades and sizes, make notes if they give actual dimensions, and use this to select the largest bulbs for that species.

Avoid buying bulbs at a grocery or discount store that sells bulbs packed in mesh bags. It is difficult to see what you are getting and there are often a few small bulbs in with a few larger ones, not unlike that one large potato in front of the mesh window in the potato bag. It is also not a good idea to purchase bulbs from anyone offering a large assortment of bulbs for a single low price; these ads commonly appear in the Sunday paper. When this occurs you may be getting quantity, but no quality. Companies that make such offers generally buy lower quality bulbs that are culled from production.

Once you obtain your quality bulbs, handle them much the same as onions. Keep them in a cool (40 degree to 50 degree F), dark, and well-ventilated area. If you are working with small numbers and the weather remains warm, place the bulbs in a paper bag, and place them in the refrigrator crisper until they are planted. Proper planting and the subsequent care of the bulbs in the landscape will assure you of many colorful seasons from your investment. Most gardeners know that bulbs are planted with the pointed end up and at the depth shown in the directions that accompany each species.

Bulb fertilization at planting time, however, is viewed differently by different sources. There is some reserve "food" in the bulb at planting time, but it is much better to incorporate additional plant nutrients into the soil when the bulbs are set. By incorporating a time-release fertilizer into the soil, nutrients will be available for the roots next spring.

Bonemeal was long-considered a standard bulb fertilizer. However, newer processing techniques result in lower nitrogen levels in the bonemeal, even though the phosphorus remains high. Bulbs need a complete fertilizer for optimum growth and development. The nitrogen is essential for both growth and blooms, phosphorus for root growth and bulb longevity, and potassium for healthy growth and disease resistance.

Work a complete fertilizer such as 5-10-5 into the soil at the bottom of the planting hole. In new beds it is advisable to work up the entire area and incorporate the fertilizer at rates of up to two to three pounds per each 100 square feet of planted area. The newer coated fertilizers would be very good because of their time-release action allows the nutrients to become available over a longer period of time.

Warm soil temperatures are necessary in the fall to develop a strong root systems on the bulbs. For this reason get the bulbs into the soil well before the soil freezes. Don't worry if grape hyacinth or daffodils produce some foliage in the fall; it won't interfere with flowering.

Research indicates that sunlight on the bulb reduces the number of blooms. Keep the bulbs in their package until the time they are placed in the soil, or plant on a cloudy day.

Once the bulbs have been set, it may be advisable to cover the beds with chicken wire or hardware cloth to protect them from digging squirrels, chipmunks or dogs. When small areas are planted, some gardeners set the bulbs in a wire basket to protect them. A three to four inch layer of mulch over the planted area will help retain some warmth in the soil while the roots develop, but will not keep the soil from eventually freezing later in the winter. Reduce the thickness of the mulch to two inches next spring as the foliage emerges and enjoy the colorful display.

Twelve-Year-Old Sings Country

WESTMINSTER, Md. — Ashley Marie has learned a lot about balancing a career with education ... and all at the ripe old age of twelve! Ashley left her middle school in 1994 to be home-schooled, just so she could accept singing engagements on school nights.

"With my mom teaching me (on home-school) I could accept singing engagments during the week because I didn't have to get up so early. Sometimes I wouldn't get up until noon the next day. But my mom would make me do workbooks and studying for hours the next day to make up for it!"

Ashley Marie (her middle name) decided when she was in kindergarten that she wanted to be on stage. "Back then I thought I would be a comedian," she says. "But then, in second grade, when I sang in my class talent show, I knew I wanted to be a singer!"

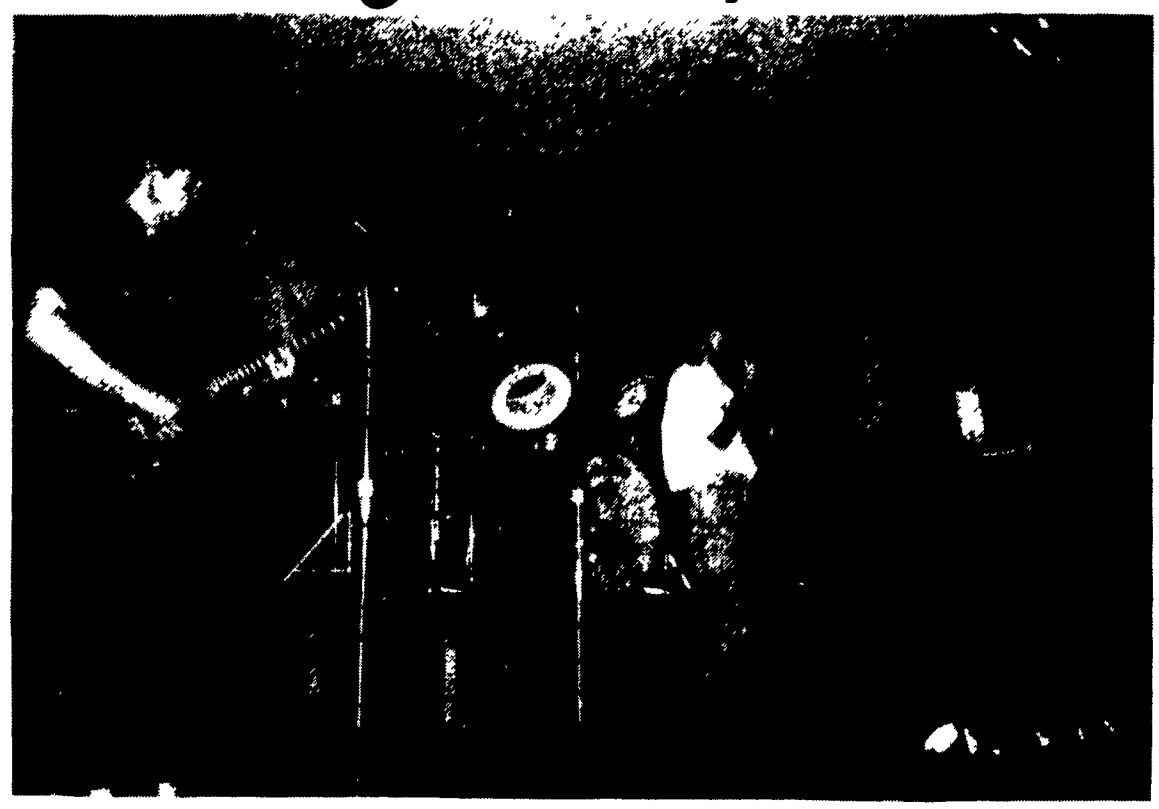
Ashley's mom, Lois Szymanski says she held Ashley back (from the stage) for awhile. "I wasn't sure I wanted her to do this so young," Mrs. Szymanski says. "But after awhile I couldn't stop her. I think it is something she is meant to do!"

Although she had sung for many family gatherings and parties, Ashley Marie's first opportunity to sing publicly came in the spring of 1994 when she joined the Carroll County 4-H Performing Arts Club. Leaders, Ron and Debbie Zepp invited Ashley to do several shows with the Performing Arts Club, nurturing this young girl's talent with a lot of love and positive encouragement.

But Ashley says her first real break came when she sang at the 1994 Carroll County 4-H and FFA Fair. After singing for the Farm Queen Contest, and again that night in the Talent Show, she was interviewed by a writer from the Carroll Sun who wrote a story on her for the paper, and then she was interviewed live on a local cable television station.

Since that time Ashley's career has exploded. She has continued to perform on a regular basis at restaurants and Fall Festivals, Lions Club and church events and at Moose Lodges, she has made a hit with many people in the area. She has begun to take voice and guitar lessons and has performed with many local bands. "I love the Dixie Highway Band," says Ashley. "I take voice lessons with the lead singer, Dusty Springer, and guitar with her husband, Ron Carney. They have been so nice to me," Ashley says. "They even let me perform with them at carnivals all summer and other places, too!"

Support has come from all over. Country Roads, a country and western wear store in the Cranberry Mall in Westminster has agreed to give her a 20 percent discount on costumes in exchange for promotion. Harris Automotive of Westminster was so impressed with her voice that they purchased and donated to her a cordless microphone. Mrs. Szymanski says,



Ashley sings with the Dixie Highway Band at the Harney, Maryland carnival.

"They play tapes of her in their shop and promote her to anyone who will listen!" Marshall's Melodies, a Westminster Kareoke Company called a talent scout to hear Ashley sing in January of 1995. Since that time the (local) talent agency has cut a three song video to promote her and has a Christmas album in the works.

"So many people have done so much to help her!" says Mrs. Szymanski. "Everyone seems to believe she will make it...and it's all she wants to do!"

"Her voice is so much more mature than you would expect," says Sharon Alfaro, a writer with "Country Plus" magazine. She came to see Ashley in a Show at Mountain Shadow's Restaurant in Blue Ridge Summit, Pennsylvania, then wrote an article about Ashley for Country Plus. "She sounds like a young Reba McEntire!" Ms. Alfaro says.

Even though her career seems to be in full swing, young Ashley has decided that she wants to be a normal kid, too, so after a year of homeschool she is back in school this year as an eighth grade student at East Middle School in Westminster. "I'm a people person, and I missed my friends too much!" she says.

This past year Ashley Marie had a chance to meet with Country Music legends Ronnie Dove and Narvel Felts and to perform a song for them in shows in Vienna, Virginia and in Smithsburg, Maryland. She performs once a month at Mike Pryor's Mountain Shadow's Restaurant in Blue Ridge Summit, Pennsylvania where she has a regular following of friends and fans. "It might take me years," Ashley Marie says, "but someday I'll make it to Nashville!"

Folks can catch Ashley Marie at any of these upcoming shows:

October 14 - Chapps Lounge - Cancer Benefit - Woodsbridge, VA (Info. - Jay Padgett (703-730-3581)

December 23 - (Christmas Show) All at Mountain Shadows Restaurant, Blue Ridge Summit, Pa. - Dinner and 1 hour Show $6.00 (Info. - Mike Pryor - 717-794-2705)

Ashley Marie sings for diners at Mt. Shadows Restaurant in Blue Ridge Summit, Pa.

Dreaming of Nashville, Ashley Marie performs locally to a growing number of fans.

Rainbow Crayons

Don't throw away your old crayons. Instead make rainbow crayons.

Take all the paper off the crayons and break into one-inch pieces. Line the muffin cups with foil and preheat oven to 300 degrees. Put crayon pieces into each foil-lined muffin cup and fill about one-half full.

Put the muffin tin into the oven for about 5 minutes. Watch carefully and remove before crayons are completely melted. Cool completely in the muffin tin for about 30 minutes. When cool, remove from tin and peel off foil.

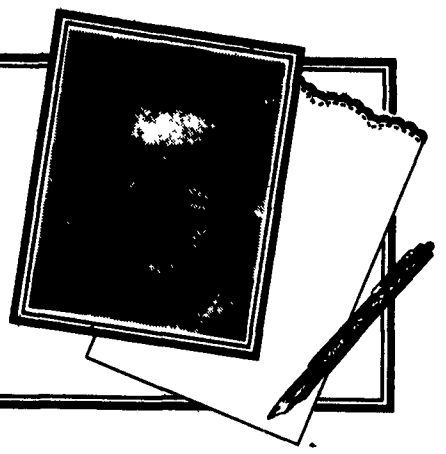
Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser



My garden certainly look as though fall has arrived. The cucumber vines are dead and the green beans are now bug eaten. However, this year the pole limas give me basket after basket of beans. And, the tomatoes are still ripening although an animal has started to eat them before I can pick them.

This year the apple tree in our front yard has been loaded with fruit. So, I've made applesauce every other day for weeks. Some has been frozen and some canned. The silo has been filled after a lot of problems with machinery. But that seems to be the story of a farmer's life. One day everything runs smoothly and the next there is one break down after another.

Phone calls from far away children get our minds on other things. One from Texas reports that her son can now crawl all over the house. Another daughter in Georgia tells me that her child is taking piano lessons. While still another six-year-old grandson in Virginia phones to tell me that he made the winning score in soccer. Still another grandson decides to play in the pen with the pigs and has to be hosed down by his father—that is one way to get him clean again.

We seldom see our children but Kenneth will be coming to Lancaster County on business. He plans to stay with us for three days. When he comes for supper tonight, I expect to feed him something that he hasn't had for a long time. I'll make a pig stomach as we need an extra person to help us eat it.

Halloween Activities For Families

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Family groups can work together to create an original scarecrow for display on the Hershey Museum terrace while the younger children test their puzzle skills by working their way through a straw bale maze on Saturday, October 21 from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. Move inside to the Museum's hands-on Discovery Room where storytelling and musical sessions are sure to engage visitors of all ages. Jan Dunkle will be on hand at 12:30, 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. to lead short, lively interactive musical sessions and at 1:00, 2:00 and 3:00 p.m. Rosemary Zoumas will delight visitors with her short stories. Programs are free with museum admission.

The scarecrows can be made with materials provided by the museum or, if you prefer, bring some items of clothing from home to individualize your creation which will remain on display for all visitors to admire. Younger children can work their way through a small, straw bale maze also located outside on the Museum's terrace. The scarecrow activity is available while supplies last.

The programs are held in conjunction with Hershey Halloween 1995. For additional information call (717) 534-3439.

Grandma's Kitchen

BOYERTOWN (Berks Co.) — The Boyertown Area Historical Society will open an exhibit called Grandma's Kitchen, which features 19th and 20th century cooking wares and utensils. The exhibit will be located at 43 S. Chestnut St., Boyertown, and is free for the public to view on consecutive Sundays from October 8 through November 12 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Fair Success In Lampeter

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Thousands of people flock to community fairs each year. Maybe it's to indulge in French Fries drenched in lard or a hot pork barbecue or a Pennsylvania Dutch funnel cake.

Others like to stroll through the exhibits and fathom the weight of the hugh pumpkins, the skill required to complete a pieced quilt or the miniature peppers packed neatly into glass jars.

For some, fascination is found in admiring the squeeling pigs, the wooly sheep or the muscular steer.

A fair that attracts crowds each night is considered a success. But without the help of dedicated volunteers, few people could enjoy the hundreds of sights, sounds, and smells at the fair.

Many of these volunteers have been working almost year-round in planning, lining up events and judges, preparing buildings and grounds, hooking up electrical services and public address systems.

One of these faithful volunteers is Howard Mains, the assistant general manager at the West Lampeter Community Fair. Mains has been helping out at the fair for 15 years.

Under his involvement, he has seen the antique tractor show added, a three-wheeler show, and next year he hopes to organize a tractor square dance. Yep — it really is tractors maneuvering to the rhymth of country music and lining up with partners just like people do in square dancing.

"They had it when I was a kid. We use regular square dance callers," Mains said.

He has already lined up participants and said the directors of the Fair will hold their first planning session in November.

Like most of the volunteers, Mains works full time and still manages to spend long hours at the fair. In Central Manor, Mains farms Rye Ridge Farms in partnership with Gus Birchler. They raise produce and tobacco and Mains also helps his cousin with custom combining. Mains works a lot with the ag program at the Penn Manor High School.

"If you want to stay young — you work with kids but you don't try to keep up with them," Mains said.

Mains spend a lot of his time at the fair in the livestock barns, helping the shows to run smoothly.

Even students volunteer time at the fair. Helping compile livestock results and entering them in the computer was Christina Badorf, a senior at Penn Manor FFA.

Michele Winters grew up showing pigs and steers, but is no longer eligible to participate in 4-H and FFA shows. So she does the next best thing — works as chairperson for the pig show.

Stephanie Garrett of Pequea was also a former exhibitor who continues to help at the fair by announcing the placings and organizing ribbons and trophies for the event.

While Mains, Badorf, Garrett, and Winters were spending time in the barns, Herb Werner was stirring chicken corn soup in the four black kettles over open flame gas heaters.

The homemade chicken corn soup and the pot pie became so popular that Werner and his helpers were kicked out of the kitchen three years ago.

"We use fresh cut corn — that's the secret he said of the corn which many volunteers prepare ahead of time. They also cook and debone the chicken, chop up the celery, onions, and parsley so that Werner's work is simpler.

According to Werner, the secret to the fair committees savory pot pie is in letting the dough absorb the broth.

Several Bedford County farms inspired paintings such as these.

Artist Paints Things She Loves

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.)—As a farm wife, Jane Gayman sees beauty in a rustic building entwined with creeping vines, a Mail Pouch Tobacco sign, a field of fluffly sheep.

Scenes such as these make her fingers twitch to put them into pen and ink or pastel sketches.

Jane's work is appreciated in public buildings and private collections in a number of American states and three European countries.

Now semi-retired, Jane and her husband George spend their winters in Florida and during the northern warm months, live in a quaint log cabin on the family farm. Their son, Doug and his family live in the big farm house and do the farming.

Jane's painting is done during the summer months in a charming loft studio. Three smiling pigs, hummingbirds buzzing about a bouquet of Iris flowers, and an old rocking chair, are only a few of the rural subjects she holds dear.

During the winer months she sees the delicate beauty of seashells, and the more vividly colored flowers of a warmer climate as matte pleasers.

Her life as an artist began at Moore College of Art in Philadelphia. Pursuing a career as a fashion illustrator, Jane studied the anatomy, bones, muscles, and draping clothing on the body. "There's a lot of courses most people never connect with art," she says.

Shortly after moving to Bedford County, baby Gaymans began arriving, competing for Mom's artistic hours. They totaled four in number including Susie, Patty, Douglas, and Gregory. "With four children, the farm, and for awhile an ice cream stand, I didn't have much time left for painting," Jane admits.

"I did keep busy with volunteer work. When someone needed a poster for something, they always thought of me, and I was glad to do it to keep my art interest alive."

In 1976, with the children testing their own waters, Jane created a Bicentennial coloring book and then designed a coloring book for Old Bedford Village. "I had good success with those," she recalls.

After another short career as a Southern Alleghenies representative, Jane decided to re-pursue her artistic abilities. "I want to keep expanding," she says today. "I'm happiest when I have a paint brush in my hand. Ideas keep coming to me, sometimes I get awake at night with an idea in my head and I can't sleep until I get up and put it on paper."

Locally, her works are on display at Jean Bonnet Tavern, Lamberts Framing, and Old Bedford Village as well as several art galleries. Thirteen of her pen and ink sketches of Bedford County landmarks are located at the Bedford County Courthouse including such picturesque local attractions as the Everett Railroad, a Schellsburg church, and the Rainsburg Seminary.

Other marketing is done at craft shows. "I love doing all of them," Jane admits. "I enjoy talking with the people and, of course, I appreciate the interest they take in my work."

She sells both originals and prints with most craft show items being already framed.

Memorial Day at Boalsburg begins the season. "That's always a big one," she says. "There's a good attendance and they give me an excellent location."

In June, Jane is one of the 40 craftsmen represented at the Old Bedford Village craft show. Other shows are Roaring Spring Homecoming, the Claysburg Street Fair, Mountain Craft Days at Somerset and her favorite, Fall Foliage in Bedford.

"Everyone in our family looks forward to Fall Foliage," says this artist who has her Fall Foliage stand on Juliana Street in an attractive tent surrounded by the fruits of her talents.

By the end of October, she is ready to return to Florida where she participates in an artists workshop, displays her work at a member show, and also sells privately.

This fall she will be a part of a Japanese-American International Watercolor Exhibition. There will be 70 watercolors in the show, with 35 from each country.

Artists are from boroughs of Tokyo and four Pennsylvana Counties. The opening reception will be held at the Philip Dressler Center for the Arts in Somerset in September.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Society 1

The September meeting of Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 1 was held at the Boyertown home of President Evelyn Heacock who presided at the meeting. Members answered the roll call by recalling interesting events in their lives during the past summer.

Plans were made by members to attend the annual convention of the Berks County Society of Farm Women to be held on October 7, at the Berks County Agricultural Center.

Randy VanFleet, a teacher in the Exeter Township School District, Berks County, spoke and gave a slide presentation of his sugar maple syrup operation. He now taps 250 sugar maple trees each year and has the only commercial sugar house in this area in which he processes the syrup.

The next meeting will be "Ladies' Night Out" and will be a dinner meeting to be held at the Covered Bridge Hotel, Oley, on October 11, at 6:30 p.m.

York Society 26

The September meeting of York County Group 26 met at the Jolly Coppersmith Restaurant with 13 members present.

Marylou Hartland, from Fairview Nursing Home, was guest speaker.

For the October meeting the group will meet at the home of Ruth Traver for lunch and then travel to Harrisburg for a tour of the Harrisburg Post Office.

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster Farm Women No. 8 met on September 13 at the home of Sylvia Kuch of Elizabethtown. Evelyn Russell gave devotions and hostesses were Cathy Brown, Nellie Blake and Sylvia Kuch. Members enjoyed a musical program and special readings given by Sylvia and David Kuch.

The October 11 meeting will be at Donegal Creek Farm in East Donegal Township and will be at 12:30 p.m.

Horse Show and Barbecue Chicken

The public is invited to attend an open youth schooling horse show and chicken barbecue being offered by the Northampton County 4-H Center on Sunday, Oct. 8.

The open youth schooling horse show, open to all youths ages 8-19 years, will be held at the Northampton County 4-H Center on Bushkill Center Rd., Bushkill Township. It will start at 10 a.m. and include walk-trot, open, jumping, and fun classes for all abilities and styles.

The judge for the day will be Brett Shorley, a former 4-H-er and judge from Berks County. He will offer helpful information and pointers to all.

Also during this event, from noon until 3 p.m., the Northampton County 4-H Center will offer its famous barbecued chicken for the public. The chicken is served as adult platters (1/2 chicken), children's platters (1/4 chicken), and just 1/2 chicken. The platters will include a baked potato, pickled cabbage/applesauce, rolls and butter. Come early as the quantities will be limited. Take-out orders will also be available.

The Northampton County 4-H Center is raising funds to repay the loan on the new 45 foot x 90 foot pole barn at the facility. This year the board has held some very successful fundraisers, including a chicken barbecue during the Northampton County 4-H Round-up in August and an auction/fun day at the 4-H Center. Anyone wishing to contribute to this project is more than welcome to contact the 4-H Center for details.

For more information concerning the open youth schooling show, the barbecue, or the 4-H Center, call (610) 837-7294.

New 4-H Club to Start

Boys and girls ages 8-12 who enjoy sewing or crafts are invited to join the newest 4-H Club in the Pottstown area.

So-Fro, located behind the Coventry Mall, has offered free use of their facilities and sewing machines for the club. Plus, members will get a discount on all fabric and craft supplies purchased.

The club will meet there on the second Thursday of each month from 6:30 p.m.-7:30 p.m. and also on some additional Thursdays to work on 4-H projects. Four local volunteers, including So-Fro Manager, Joanne Books, will be heading the club.

The first meeting on Oct. 12 is an informational one and a parent must attend with their child. Each child will receive a starter sewing kit with their $5.00 registration fee. The starter sewing kit includes scissors, seam ripper, pins, pin cushion, needles, tape measure, thimble and sewing gauge. The first project will be a draw-tight tote bag and membes will learn how to use the sewing machine and how to do basic straight stitching. During the winter and spring the group wil work on other projects selected by the members, such as crafts, quilting and embroidery. Members will have the opportunity to show all of their finished projects, and received merit ribbons at the Montgomery County 4-H Fair in August.

Registration is limited due to the limited space available at So-Fro. To register or for more information, call Helaine Brown, 4-H agent, at (610) 489-4315.

4-H Horse Club

Lancaster County 4-H Horse Club members developed their "Horse Sense" this summer while competing on the junior and senior horse judging teams.

The Senior Team placed first at two district competitions. Amber Weidler was high senior individual within the southeast region. Katie Nagle and Jodell Stahl were second and third place senior individuals within the capitol region.

Team members also placed in the top 10 in the SUNY Morrisville College 1995 Horse Judging Contest. As the summer concluded, the senior team placed 12th at State 4-H Achievement Days held at Penn State University.

Genetically Engineered Foods Accepted By Regulatory Agencies

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—Genetically engineered foods, which have been the target of protests by special interest groups over the past five years, are gaining acceptance by the public at a surprisingly rapid rate, says a plant geneticist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Genetic engineering has been in the news every day, and the public understands the issue better now than a decade ago," says Mark Guiltinan, assistant professor of plant molecular biology. "Genetic engineering has occurred in nature for millions of years. Mother Nature has probably done just about any experiment we can think of—most of which have failed—but now genetic engineers can develop plants at will rather than depending on nature."

In 1994, the first genetically engineered food product, the Flavr Savr tomato, was approved by the Food and Drug Administration. Guiltinan says several other products are on the verge of approval, including potatoes resistant to the Colorado potato beetle; cotton resistant to herbicides and bollworm; and herbicide-resistant soybeans.

While media stories and special interest groups often have emphasized that genetically altered plants are not "natural," Guiltinan points out that plants have always been subject to various forms of natural genetic engineering. He also notes that Flavr Savr tomatoes are selling consistently well at supermarkets across the country.

"Plants have been genetically manipulated by plant breeding for more than 10,000 years. Plant breeding as a science goes back to the 1800s and genetic engineering is the next step," Guiltinan says. "Recombinant DNA technology represents a quantum leap in our ability to produce better plants much more consistently. We now can transfer genes between virtually any two organisms and we are no longer limited by sexual compatibility barriers."

Plant breeding and selection have given the world a plentiful, high-quality food supply. Biotechnology research offers a more sophisticated set of tools for scientists interested in developing new plants.

"I think any skepticism comes from a gut-level fear of tinkering with genes—in other words, playing God," Guiltinan says. "I think of genetic research not as entering into some mysterious and unknowable force but as similar to working on a car engine to find out how it works. We just haven't taken the entire engine apart yet, but is is a finite and ultimately understandable system.

"There are up to 50,000 genes in a plant cell. We've looked at perhaps 1,000 at the most," he adds.

Guiltinan says genetically engineered plants offer benefits for both farmers and consumers. For example, a potato engineered to resist pests such as the Colorado potato beetle reduces a farmer's dependence on pesticides, protecting both the potatoes and the environment.

Transgenic plants often are altered only slightly to improve their natural traits. For example, to slow the ripening process, researchers working on the Flavr Savr tomato altered a single gene that makes the tomato soften. The genetic alteration allows the tomato to remain on the vine longer—improving flavor—while retaining firmness during storage and shipping.

Guiltinan cited other possible benefits of genetic engineering such as developing fruit that produces natural vaccines in doses large enough to improve health in developing countries; supplementing grains, such as soybeans and maize, with vitamins; improving the quality of food; and engineering easily produced and deliverable pharmaceuticals to developing countries.

"Developing a plant that produces a vaccine could solve a huge problem in developing countries—distribution," Guiltinan explains. "If the vaccine comes in seed form, it's cheap to buy and transport, and it won't spoil. Best of all, it's self replicating."

Guiltinan says genetic research has proven invaluable as a scientific tool. "We can use DNA fingerprinting to track a gene throughout an experiment," he says. Plant breeders can use this technology to speed up the process of traditional breeding, at the same time making it more precise.

The potential affect of transgenic plants on natural ecosystems has long been a concern of environmentalists, who fear that engineered species could expand rapidly, crowding out wild plant species. They also are concerned that genes might be transferred to wild plant species. Environmental groups also warn against engineering plants that might select for strains of super-resistance pathogens.

Guiltinan agrees these are legitimate concerns, but he points out that transgenic plants are subject to extensive testing before the product is allowed to be marketed. "Flavr Savr tomatoes underwent testing that went well beyond what is normally required for a food product," he says.

Guiltinan says these concerns must be addressed on a case-by-case basis and field testing must be performed to measure the actual potential for problems. "Careful planning, monitoring and agricultural practices will all but eliminate most of the potential problems without much trouble," he says.

Regulations for transgenic food products are stringent as well, requiring approval by the FDA and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. "Scientists are being extremely careful about what they are doing," Guiltinan says. "The promise of genetically engineered food is nearly unlimited, and in my mind at least, this promise far outweighs any potential problems."

Extra Special Puppy Club

The Roundup meeting was held on Sept. 21. The club began the meeting with dog training and pledge to the flags.

Ten members were present and they gave out the awards. Three members were recognized by the Seeing Eye: Andrea Leunberger, Becky Ulrich, and Brian Horst.

Some of the activities the dogs participated in this summer were: adventure sports, Lebanon Fair, and E.C.C. Home.

The new puppy is a Black Lab and Golden mix. He is a male puppy named Norman, raised by Jimmy St. Clair.

Time To Harvest Black Walnuts

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co. Correspondent

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.)—Fall is coming and so is the time to harvest one of the nation's least-known cash crops—black walnuts.

While most people still don't know it, there is money in those shells, said David A. Martin of Shippensburg.

Martin should know because he is the Pennsylvania field representative for the Hammons Products Company, a Missouri-based firm that is the leading processor of black walnuts in the United States.

The company he represents bought approximately 802,000 pounds of walnuts in Pennsylvania last fall and it would like to be able to get even more this year, Martin said.

Collecting the walnuts, which can be found all over the place, is a good and quick way to make some extra cash, he said.

"This crop grows at no cost," Martin said. "Just bring them to one of the buying stations in the hull as you pick them up."

At the stations, of which Hammons has 15 in this state, they are run through a hulling machine and bagged.

"When you leave, the money is in your pocket," Martin said.

"For years they went to waste," he said of the walnuts, "except what was harvested for home use. Today, there is a commercial market for them."

Martin said that market has been building steadily since Hammons was founded in 1945 by a small grocery store owner named Ralph Hammons.

Today, Hammons is still family-owned and managed and is the processor of most of the nation's eastern black walnuts.

The hulls and the meat of the nuts both are used.

The meat, of course, is used in foods from ice cream to baked goods. It also can be used as an additive to animal feeds to improve the coat.

The shells are used for metal cleaning and processing, for sealing during oil well drilling, in paints and in explosives and cosmetic cleaners.

Martin said the Shippensburg region alone supplied 65,800 pounds of walnuts to Hammons last year. Other big supply areas included Myerstown with 99,400 pounds, Kutztown with 130,700 pounds, Lancaster with 79,500 pounds, East Earl with 98,950 pounds, Christiana with 47,000 pounds, Turbotsville with 33,000 pounds, and Waynesboro with 26,000 pounds.

Hammons needs at least 30 million pounds of walnuts annually to meet its needs.

According to Martin, the going price he is paying for walnuts this year is 10 cents a pound. His station at 9077 Possum Hollow Road on the outskirts of Shippensburg opened for business on Oct. 1.

Hammons is hoping to increase the number of stations in Pennsylvania to 25 this fall. Martin said that anyone who wants to have a station founded near them, and if they are not already within 15 miles of an existing station, should call him for information at (717) 532-3989.

"When the warm summer days turn into cool autumn weather it is time to harvest walnuts," Martin said. "Boy Scouts, church groups, anyone who wants to make some money can pick them.

"The walnuts grow in back yards, fence rows, pastures, wood lots and along the roads," he said. "Try and beat the squirrels."

Gruber Judges Alaska State Fair

PALMER, Alaska — Henry Gruber, veteran livestock judge from New Tripoli, Pa., recently returned from what he considered to be the most unique assignment in his 38-year history in judging.

He judged all the open class livestock entries at the Alaska State Fair in Palmer, Alaska. Species judged included sheep, goats, dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine and even a reindeer class, which was really more of an evaluation type situation than actual judging. Henry has judged in excess of 400 fairs over the years.

Gruber said he was impressed with the quality of the show. He would rank it with a good county fair in Pennsylvania. All animals were Alaska produced animals. He judged 192 head in the open class competition. The 4-H animal would come in for the second half of the fair.

One unique class was the adult showmanship event. In each species, this event was held and then the finals were held with the beef, sheep, dairy, swine and goat showmen competing against each other. The prize this year was a beautifully embroidered jacket, which was awarded to the swine showman.

The Alaska State Fair is the largest event in the State of Alaska and draws nearly 300,000 people during its eleven day run. It is located in the small town of Palmer, which has a population of 4,000. The fair is managed by Sara Jensen, a Pennsylvania native from Radnor. The expressly agriculture fair has two buildings jammed full of competitive exhibits, such as quilting, baked goods and crafts, one building with flowers and then a very large building where the poultry, vegetables, grains, rabbits and all other livestock are housed, including ag trade show exhibits.

The fair is located in the Matanuska Valley, which is the most fertile farming area in Alaska.

Judge Henry Gruber, in white hat, judges the showmanship class at the Alaska State Fair.

RELATIVE HUMIDITY AND POULTRY HOUSE VENTILATION

William D. Weaver, Jr.
Professor And Head
Department Of
Poultry Science

Many times, when the conditions of ambient air in the poultry house (or anywhere else for that matter) are discussed, they are described in terms of their temperature and relative humidity. Temperature is generally well understood, as a thermometer measures dry bulb conditions and provides current ambient readings in degrees Fahrenheit. On the other hand, relative humidity, especially in combination with changing temperature, can be more difficult to comprehend.

First let's define some terms. "Relative" humidity, which is expressed as a percentage, indicates the ratio of water vapor (moisture) suspended in the air to the quantity of water vapor in the air at saturation (at the same temperature). Saturation, of course, represents 100 percent relative humidity.

Understanding the relationship between temperature and relative humidity is also important. As the dry bulb temperature of air increases, its ability to hold moisture also drastically increases. For example, the moisture holding capacity of air approximately doubles for each 20 degree F increase in dry bulb temperature.

I will return to the significance of this phenomenon when discussing ventilating poultry houses in a moment, but first let's define a few more terms.

On occasion, the term absolute humidity is used, which refers to the actual quantity of water vapor present in the air. This quantity is normally expressed as grains or pounds of vapor present per unit (generally pound) of dry air. Wet bulb or saturation temperature, which has already been mentioned, is the temperature of the air when it is totally saturated with moisture or at 100 percent relative humidity. Another term, which is often confused with wet bulb or saturation temperature, is dew point temperature. The dew point is the temperature at which moisture will begin to condense out of the air, and because of the energy required to convert vapor back to water, it is always a lower temperature than at saturation. People that have a deeper interest in the relationship between moisture and temperature of air (known as psychrometrics) should refer to a psychrometric chart which further illustrates these associations.

Now back to these relationships and how an understanding of them can aid in the ventilation of poultry houses.

The biggest challenge during colder weather is that of removing moisture. With the knowledge that increasing the temperature of air increases its moisture holding capacity, producers can heat colder air and remove moisture. For example, a producer can bring in cold, damp (high relative humidity) air, heat it, and by doing so, reduce its relative humidity.

Then the air with reduced relative humidity has the ability to "absorb" moisture from the litter and manure, and in conjunction with exhaust fans, remove it from the poultry house. When realizing the moisture holding capacity of air essentially doubles with each 20 degree F increase in temperature, a producer can then bring air into a house at 30 degree F and 100 percent relative humidity, heat it until 70 degree F is reached and significantly increase its ability to hold moisture. In this case the relative humidity would be reduced from 100 percent to 25 percent. Air at this relative humidity has a tremendous ability to absorb and remove moisture from the poultry house.

Another application of these relationships is used during warmer months in conjunction with evaporative cooling. First let's explain that energy is required to convert water moisture to a vapor.

As an example, 8747 BTUs are required to evaporate one gallon of water. For example, 8747 BTUs of cooling occurs when one gallon of water is converted from a liquid to a vapor. However, for this process to work, the air has to have the ability to absorb or hold additional water in the form of vapor. This brings us back to relative humidity. For if air temperature (dry bulb) is 95 degree F and the relative humidity is 45 percent (relative humidity in Pennsylvania is almost never above 50 percent when ambient temperature is 95 degree F or above), the air has the ability to hold additional moisture.

Therefore, if the water vapor in the air is increased by 50 percent (from 45 percent to 67.5 percent relative humidity), the air would be cooled by approximately 10 degree F. (Remember for each 20 degree F increase in temperature the moisture holding capacity of air is doubled.) This concept is used in most broiler, broiler breeder, and many turkey houses when using foggers and fogger pads, and evaporative cooling pads during the warmer months.

Producers by in large know that warming outside air during the colder months allows it to hold more moisture, and that in the summer evaporative cooling provides relief from the heat. However, the belief is that if producers have a clearer understanding of the concepts supporting these practices, they will be better able to first operate and then fine tune their houses during both the hot and cold times of the year.

Animal Housing Expo Nov. 8-9

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The 1995 Animal Housing Expo will be held Nov. 8-9 here at the Lebanon Fairgrounds.

"The purpose of the expo is to help farmers in the Northeast learn more about animal housing concerns," said Dan McFarland, general chair of the expo and Penn State Cooperative Extension Agent in York County.

Approximately 1,400 people attended last year's event to learn more about animal comfort, animal handling, building and remodeling animal housing facilities, stall design and maintenance, ventilation, fly control, financing, milking systems and more.

At this year's Expo, presentations by nationally known and local expert and producers, plus numerous demonstrations and displays will focus on a vareity of topics related to animal housing and care. Wisconsin veterinarian Gordon Jones will discuss "A Vet's Commonsense Perspective of Cow Comfort."

"Paying Attention to Swine Production Details" will be the focus of a veterinarian-producer panel. Tim Royer of Timber Tech Engineering will talk about "Avoiding Building Failures."

Attorney Gary Heim of Mette, Evans and Woodside will team up with Liz Brown, a tax consultant and preparer, to focus on the topic, "Your Business — Will It Continue On Into The Future?" The question, "Do You Have Sufficient Coverage?" will be addressed by Doug Wallick, Agway Insurance.

Approximately 40 commercial exhibits will afford farmers an opportunity to see new products and concepts and to make contacts with people who can provide them with the products and services they need. Admission is free. Food is available and drawings will be made for door prizes.

The event is sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension in conjunction with local agribusinesses. For more information, contact your local cooperative extension office.

WEATHER STARS™
By Tingley

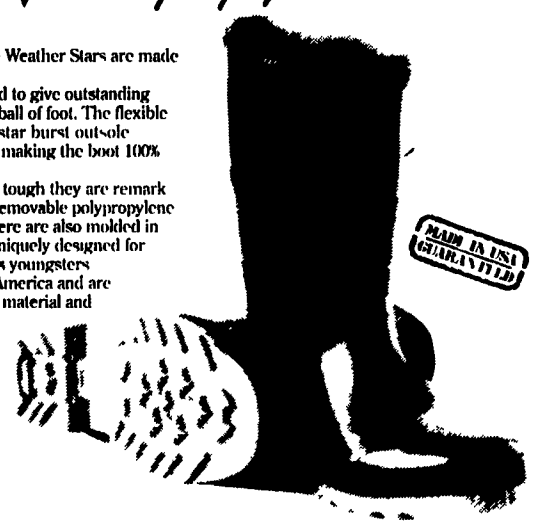
Play time or classroom time Weather Stars are made for all day wearing comfort.

They are especially designed to give outstanding fit in the heel, instep, vamp and ball of foot. The flexible upper and tough slip resistant star burst outsole are permanently fused together making the boot 100% waterproof

Although Weather Stars are tough they are remarkably light in weight and have a removable polypropylene innersole for added comfort There are also molded in pulls and heel spurs that were uniquely designed for easy on and off for tots as well as youngsters

Weather Stars are made in America and are guaranteed against all defects of material and workmanship.

When comparing comfort, wear, price and workmanship you will see why Weather Stars are such a great value. And making better products is why Tingley has been around since 1896.



What makes Webdri a comfortable heavy duty rain suit, and not a sweat suit, is its unique construction.

Our Webdri suit is not only designed for toughness but for comfort as well. Its base coated fabric must measure up to tough tear tests and pool tests And its resistance to oils, grease, acids and many other chemicals is excellent.

The unique construction allows the lining to absorb and dissipate moisture on the inside of the suit.

Batwing sleeves give maximum arm freedom and Therm-O-Rad seams are 100% waterproof.

The original Webdri is our most durable and most comfortable suit, which is why it is our most popular one too.

TINGLEY

Generations of American workers have depended on three members of our family for work.

Our 18-Top, 10" Boot and Knee Boot have become the workhorse of America. In agriculture, more men and women have been wearing our rubber overshoes than anyone else's.

Our rubber overshoes have an exceptional lightweight upper and a thick sole and tread. They weigh only a few ounces and are noted for their toughness and long wear.

Our rubber compound will not crack or stiffen even in the coldest weather like PVC overshoes and Tingley USA made stretch rubber overshoes are the finest in the world

ANSWER — L. Hoover wanted to know why her gladiolus bulbs were moldy. S. Newswanger writes that the bulbs probably have mildew, which can be cured by soaking the bulbs in Lysol water before replanting. Take 3 tablespoons Lysol concentrate to one gallon water. Dry completely before storing. Mrs. Snyder from Fleetwood wrote that it sounds as if the gladiolus are infected with tiny insects called thrips. To solve the problem, submerge infested bulbs in hot water (112-150-degrees) for 20 minutes. Or, dip the bulbs in a solution of 1 to 1¼ tablespoons Lysol disinfectant per gallon of water. Treat bulbs again before planting, then bury in the ground while they are still wet.

ANSWER — Kathryn Kern, Fairhope, wanted to know where she can purchase Lasetta material for making afghans. A long needle is used to weave yarn in the material's holes. Thanks to Naomi Blank, Kinzers, for writing that a free catalog, which includes an article on Afghan lace netting, can be obtained from The American Needlewoman, Customer Service, P.O. Box 6472, Fort Worth, Texas 76115.

ANSWER — Diane Mueller wanted to know how to remove hard water soap scum and lime deposits from tile around the tub and shower. Thanks to Mrs. Amos Zimmerman who suggests she use Lime Away, which can be purchased at grocery and hardware stores. Sara Piko, East Berlin, writes that she highly recommends using Scale Away or Tub and Shower. Look under the heading industrial equipment in the yellow pages of the phone book. Ask for Scale Away by Franklin Maintenance Co. 101 Rock Rd., Rock Plaza 111, Horsham, PA 19044. Tub and Shower is made by Universal-Rundle Bath Products, 303 North St., New Castle, PA 16103. It has a spray nozzle and is in a 16-ounce container. It is available at H&S Supply Inc., 310 Lincoln Way East, New Oxford, PA 17350.

ANSWER — Helen Hagenbuch, Danville, wanted the verses to the following poem sent in by 13-year-old Ruth Martin, who writes that she memorized this poem in sixth grade.

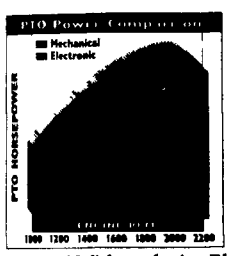
When the Frost Is on the Pumpkin
By James Whitcomb Riley

When the frost in on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock,
And you hear the kyouck and gobble of the struttin' turkey cock,
and the clackin' of the guineas and cluckin' of the hens,
And the roosters hallylooyer as he tiptoes on the fence;
Oh, it's then's the times a feller is a-feelin' at his best,
With the risin' sun to greet him from a night of peaceful rest,
As he leaves the house, bareheaded, and goes out to feed the stock,
When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock.

There's something kinda' harty-like about the atmosphere
When the heat of summer's over and the coolin' fall is here —
Of course we miss the flowers and the blossoms on the trees,
And the mumble of the hummin' birds and the buzzin' of the bees;
But the air's so appetizin' and the landscape through the haze
Of a crisp and sunny morning of the airly autumn days
Is a picture that no painter has the colorin' to mock—
When the frost in on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock.

The husky, rusty russel of the tassles of the corn
And the raspin' of the tangled leaves, as golden as the morn.
The stubble in the furries — kindo' lonesome-like but still
A-preachin' sermons to us of the barns they growed to fill.
The straw stack in the meadow and the reaper in the shed
The hosses in they're stalls below — the clover overhead!
Oh, it sets my heart a clicken' like the tickin' of a clock,
When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock

When your apples all is gathered, and the ones a feller keeps
Is poured around the cellar-floor in red and yellow heaps
And your cider-makin's over, and your wimmer-folks is through
With their mince and apple butter and their souse and sausage too!
I don't know how to tell it — but if such a thing could be
As the angels wantin' boardin', and they'd call around on me—
I'd want to 'commodate 'em — all the whole-endurin' flock.
When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock.



Head to head, the difference between these 200-hp engines is Electronic Engine Control versus a mechanical governor. And the new 8000 Series Tractors are clearly the power bulge winners! With exclusive Electronic Engine Control, 8000 Series Tractors develop more horsepower and keep it longer over a wider range of engine speeds.

Power Shift transmission minimizes gear meshes to maximize horsepower efficiency. Working speeds are spaced in productive ½-mph increments so you can fine-tune field operations.

Plus, 8000 Series Tractors offer industry-leading hitch-lift capacities - more than 14,000 pounds optional on the 8100 and 8200, and over 15,000 pounds optional on the 8300 and 8400 Tractors.

Take your productivity to a higher level with a new 160-hp 8100, 180-hp 8200, 200-hp 8300, or 225-hp 8400 Tractor. Visit your John Deere dealer today.

Large Victorian home in Historic District

The Pearce house is the best surviving Queen Anne style home in Chestertown, and has been restored. It was built for Judge James Pearce, son of the mid-century U.S. Senator, by H.M. Stuart, one of the towns premier craftsman. Notable are the banded exterior walls and ornaments of plaster and terra cotta. The porches, balustrades and irregular dormers, as well as the pink slate and detailed color scheme of the home, makes this a fine example of a period house with all its fabric intact.

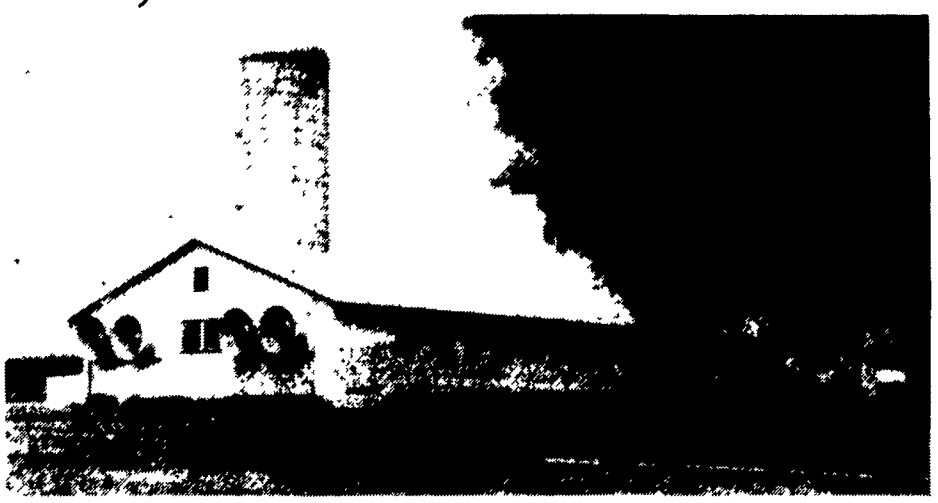
"LANCASTER COUNTY DAIRY HERD GOES TO 22,000 + RHA"



KATLIN FARM Marlin & Kathy Horst, Lititz, PA

"We have always been pleased with the on farm consulting, nutritional and delivery services we get from Sensenig's. When they suggested that we try the new AIM feeding program, we felt it was a good idea.

We started with the AIM top dress and immediately had a three pound increase. When we brought the AIM Complete feed into our TMR, we saw another three pound response. To help maintain production during the summer heat stress, we feed five to eight times a day, have tunnel ventilation, put a buffer in our TMR and use MasterPlex. Our calving interval went from 13.5 down to 13.0.

A competitive salesman told me his company had analyzed the AIM product and claimed it was the same as Aminotek. After the results we had I told him that there had to be more than a name change - this feed is great!"

DO YOU HAVE ENOUGH FEED?

Recent use of stored hay to overcome the effects of the late summer drought has raised the question of the availability of stored hay for the coming winter.

There are several factors that must be considered to accurately predict winter hay needs. These include:

- The nutritional requirements of the cattle to be fed
- The quality of the hay to be fed
- How the hay was stored
- How the hay will be fed
- How much hay is available.

As we have discussed before in this column, beef cows have changing nutritional needs based on the particular stage of production.

Spring-calving cows that are pregnant are at their lowest nutritional needs for the year. A 1,300-pound pregnant cow that has already weaned her calf needs about 20-25 pounds of dry matter daily, but that feed can be some lower quality stuff. She can meet her energy needs with hay or good straw that is only 45-50 percent TDN and 9-10 percent protein.

As long as she maintains her weight, she is probably getting enough feed. As these cows get to 30 days before calving, the energy and protein needs go up, and some better quality feed will be needed.

In this case, the hay better be at least 50 percent TDN and 10 percent protein at maximum intake. Finally, at calving and for the next 60 days, the cow's energy needs are raised by 50 percent and her protein needs are doubled. Most hay cannot meet this energy need and some kind of supplemental feed (usually grain) will be needed. A good mix of legumes in the hay will meet the protein needs for most of these cows.

As one can imagine, no two bales of hay have the same nutritional value, even if they came from the same field. Those from two different farms can be vastly different in value, even if they "look" alike. Whenever there is a shortage of hay, the need for a good analysis of the feed is greatest.

This analysis is the only way to make the most of a limited supply. In addition to feed quality, the actual amount available must be known.

Cattle are fed by the pound and not by the bale. Storage, bale size, and feeding losses can all affect the pounds available to the herd. Big bales stored outside will lose 30 percent or more of their feed value, so just remember to subtract one-third of the total number of bales stored outside from the total on hand.

Bales under plastic will lose about 16 percent, and those in a barn will lose about 5 percent of their value. The well-advertised "1,000-pound bale" only exists if it has been weighed and you know for certain there is that much hay in the bale.

My experience some years ago showed the baler that "made 1,000-pound bales" seldom made one that weighed more than 900 pounds.

What does it all add up to? Let's take an example: you have 40 spring-calving beef cows to be fed from Nov. 1 to May 1 (181 days) on hay that is mostly grass in big bales stacked in a barn that probably have 900 pounds of dry matter each. You will feed in conventional ring feeders. How much feed do you need?

We will make the arbitrary cutoff for cow needs at Nov. 1 until Feb. 1 (stage 1), Feb. 1 until April 1 (stage 2), and April 1 and after (stage 3).

Stage 1: each cow needs 25 pounds of dry matter times 40 cows times 61 days is 61,000 pounds of hay or 68 bales. Feed losses are 8 percent and storage losses are 5 percent, so the total need becomes 78 bales.

We will assume an analysis has shown the hay is 51 percent TDN and 10.4 percent protein, so we can meet the stage 2 needs of the cows with a full feed of the hay. Therefore we will simply add another 78 bales for the next two months.

For stage 3 we will feed hay for the 30 days before turnout, so we will feed 39 bales (half of 78). We will also need to add a pound of corn or an equivalent energy feed to the ration to meet their energy needs.

CHIMTEK™

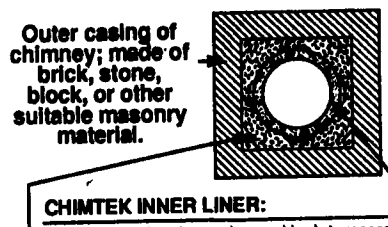
ADVANCED CHIMNEY TECHNOLOGY

SAFER: CHIMTEK is designed to withstand severe chimney fires without breaking or transmitting high temperatures to adjoining combustible materials.

LESS CREOSOTE: Wood smoke contains moisture (H_2O). When the smoke comes into contact with a surface under approx. 250 degrees F the water will condense to a liquid. This liquid combined with other products in wood smoke will result in creosote. Creosote can be very dangerous when it ignites. The inside of a CHIMTEK chimney stays much warmer and greatly reduces the amount of creosote formation. In many cases CHIMTEK chimneys are completely clean after years of use.

IMPROVES STOVE PERFORMANCE: The draft produced by a chimney is what pulls oxygen into the fire for combustion. The three main factors affecting draft are the chimney's height, size and temperature. CHIMTEK contains a great amount of a very special insulating material that is not affected by moisture saturation and will not seattle or deteriorate. Poor draft will result in poor combusion. Poor combusion will create more smoke. Smoke is wasted fuel. Newere EPA certified stoves are especially dependent on proper draft to perform properly.

A SURE SOLUTION TO MASONRY CHIMNEY PROBLEMS:



CHIMTEK INNER LINER:
- Made of volcanic pumice and high-temperature refractory cements.
- Round shape provides even temperatures inside flue, and contributes to efficient flow of smoke and flue gases.
- Highly resistant to thermal shock.
- Even if cracks should occur, the round shape and Chimtek Secondary Liner prevent pieces from falling into chimney.
- The volcanic pumice in Chimtek liners adds considerable insulating value.

CHIMTEK SECONDARY LINER:
- Provides exceptional insulation to make chimney more efficient and reduce heat transfer to combustible materials.
- Provides structural support for inner liner.
- Will not absorb moisture or creosote.

Tours Examine Varieties

EAST PETERSBURG (Lancaster Co.)—Chemgro Seeds completed two corn plot tours held on Sept. 7 at the Paul Zimmerman Farm, Ephrata and Sept. 8 at the Clarence Keener Farm, Manheim.

The photo is of Woody Funk, president of Chemgro, left, and John Yocum, speaker at Ephrata.

Chemgro displayed its latest corn and soybean varieties. Experts were on hand to discuss weed and pest control problems. Companies represented were American Cyanamid, Ciba, Bayer, Dupont, Monsanto, FMC, and Zeneca. The high point of the day was a contest estimating the top variety and yield.

Bank Launches Livestock Lending Program

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—Dauphin Deposit Bank and Trust Company has inaugurated a new loan program to meet the financing needs of dairy farmers and cattle feeders.

Through a special arm of its small business banking unit, Dauphin Deposit will extend loans to customers in southcentral Pennsylvania to assist in their purchase of livestock.

A full-service commercial bank, Dauphin Deposit is staffing its small business loan unit in Lancaster County with four full-time lenders working out of any of nine offices in the county.

In recent weeks, Dauphin Deposit has begun to finance purchase of livestock at the New Holland Sales Stable for area farmers.

Terry Kreider, manager of Dauphin Deposit's New Holland branch, directs the bank's livestock financing program. He can be reached at (717) 355-8270.

Locust Brook Ag Center will handle the full line of Hoffman products, including Funk's G® Brand hybrid corn.

Kutz Named To Sales Force

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Elanco Animal Health recently named Jill L. Kutz, Tunkhannock, Pa., as a cattle sales representative for a Northeast territory.

The territory, which includes New York, New Jersey and New England states, was broken out of a larger territory to allow for enhanced customer service.

Before joining Elanco, Kutz was employed by Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. as a sales representative and was responsible for producing sales that placed her in the top five percent of the entire sales force. Prior to this, Kutz was a telesales representative for American Cyanamid Company's Animal Nutrition and Health Department.

Kutz, who holds a bachelor's in agricultural economics and rural sociology from Penn State, has been actively involved in the Dairy Science Club, the American Dairy Science Association, and Penn State's Agriculture Advocate program.

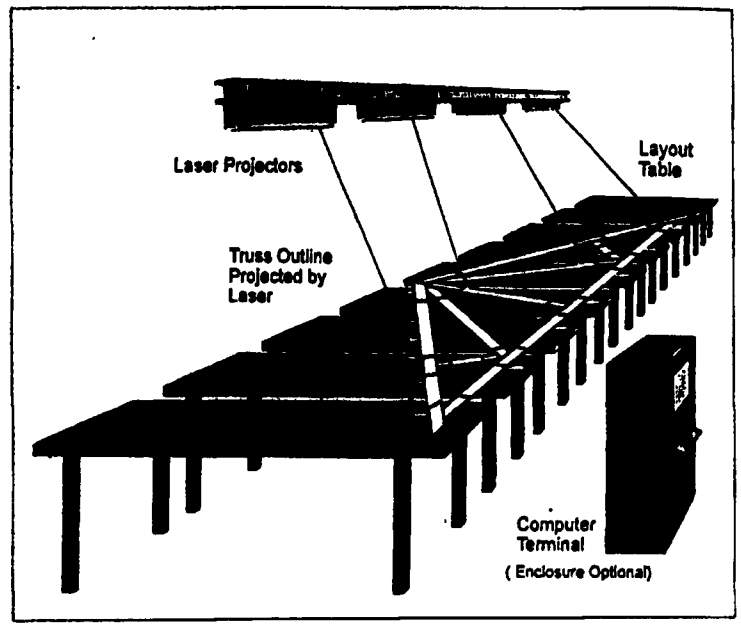
Truss Design Uses Pinpoint Lasers

COGAN STATION (Lycoming Co.) — Black Bear Truss Corporation uses ceiling-mounted lasers to project a truss outline onto the steel assembly table.

This precision type of outline provides final-stage verification of size, position, even the saw cut of each chord and web element. Any error is obvious at a glance as the jig is loaded. The outline also shows the size and positioning of the connector plates.

Located in the Lycoming Creek Valley near Cogan Station, Black Bear Truss manufactures roof trusses up to 80 feet clear-span. Now in its tenth year, the company employs 20 and sales volume has grown to $2 million annually.

The trusses are computer-designed and custom built to meet or exceed area building codes and project requirements. Ongoing quality assurance is maintained through regular inspections by the Truss Plate Institute, reinforced by even more stringent requirements of Black Bear Truss.



Black Bear Truss Corporation uses lasers during truss layout to ensure accuracy and quality.

Software Helps Farmers Develop Manure Application Plans

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Many farmers are concerned about the environmental impact of their farming operations. For livestock producers, a primary concern is proper manure handling and utilization. Producers are equally concerned, however, about the financial status of their farm business.

A new software tool from the University of Minnesota allows farmers to address both these concerns. Developed by the Center for Farm Financial Management at the University of Minnesota, Manure Application Planner (MAP) version 3.0 helps farmers develop environmentally sound and economically viable manure application plans. Based on individual farm planning data, it helps users calculate a plan that does not overapply nutrients and is also cost effective. It also compares the cost of applying manure versus the cost of applying commercial fertilizer.

"Developing manure management plans is one of the hottest topics these days for livestock producers," said Mike Schmitt, University of Minnesota soil scientist. "But any management changes we suggest for a specific field must fit into the overall plan of that farm. While generic recommendations, such as manure analyses and equipment calibration, may be suitable for most farms, manure application rates and methods are dictated by the economics of that practice for the individual farmer."

To develop a plan, users enter the amount and analysis of manure on the farm, the fields where manure may be applied, crop nutrient recommendations, manure application and hauling costs, and the cost of commercial fertilizer. If farmers are evaluating a new livestock enterprise, or if a manure test is not available, MAP can estimate the manure production and analysis amounts.

Once this information has been entered, MAP determines the most cost effective plan that does not overapply nutrients. It calculates the best application rates and locations for manure to be applied. If more than one application method is available, MAP selects the optimal application method as well.

If users already have an application plan in mind, they can enter it directly. MAP then calculates the nutrients applied from manure, any supplemental fertilizer needs, and documents the application plan.

The software includes user-friendly features such as a pop-up calculator and context-sensitive help messages. It also comes with a comprehensive user's manual and toll-free technical support.

MAP was developed by soil science and farm management extension specialists at the University of Minnesota. For the past four years, the software has been used by staff of the Minnesota Extension Service, Minnesota Natural Resources Conservation Service, and the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency. With the new version, MAP is also available for individual farmers to use in developing and documenting manure application plans.

MAP retails for $95. Hardware requirements include an IBM or compatible computer, MS-DOS 3.3 or higher, 80386 or later processor and at least 2 megabytes of RAM. For more information, write Center for Farm Financial Management, 249 Classroom Office Building, 1994 Buford Avenue, St. Paul, MN 55108, (800) 234-1111 or (612) 625-1964.

Implement Company Sells White Tractors

RICHLAND (Lebanon Co.)—Lebanon Valley Implement Company, serving area farmers for more than 49 years, is an authorized White dealership, providing sales and service support for White tractors from 65 to 215 PTO horsepower.

"The addition of White tractors will help us continue to meet the needs of our customers by offering equipment with features and accessories previously not available through our dealership." said John Zimmerman, co-owner.

"White tractors are a well-recognized brand with a reputation for quality and reliability, and we invite farmers throughout the area to stop by for a first-hand look at these machines."

Leon Stauffer, parts manager, said the dealership will stock replacement parts for all present owners of White equipment, and maintain an extensive parts inventory for new equipment purchasers.

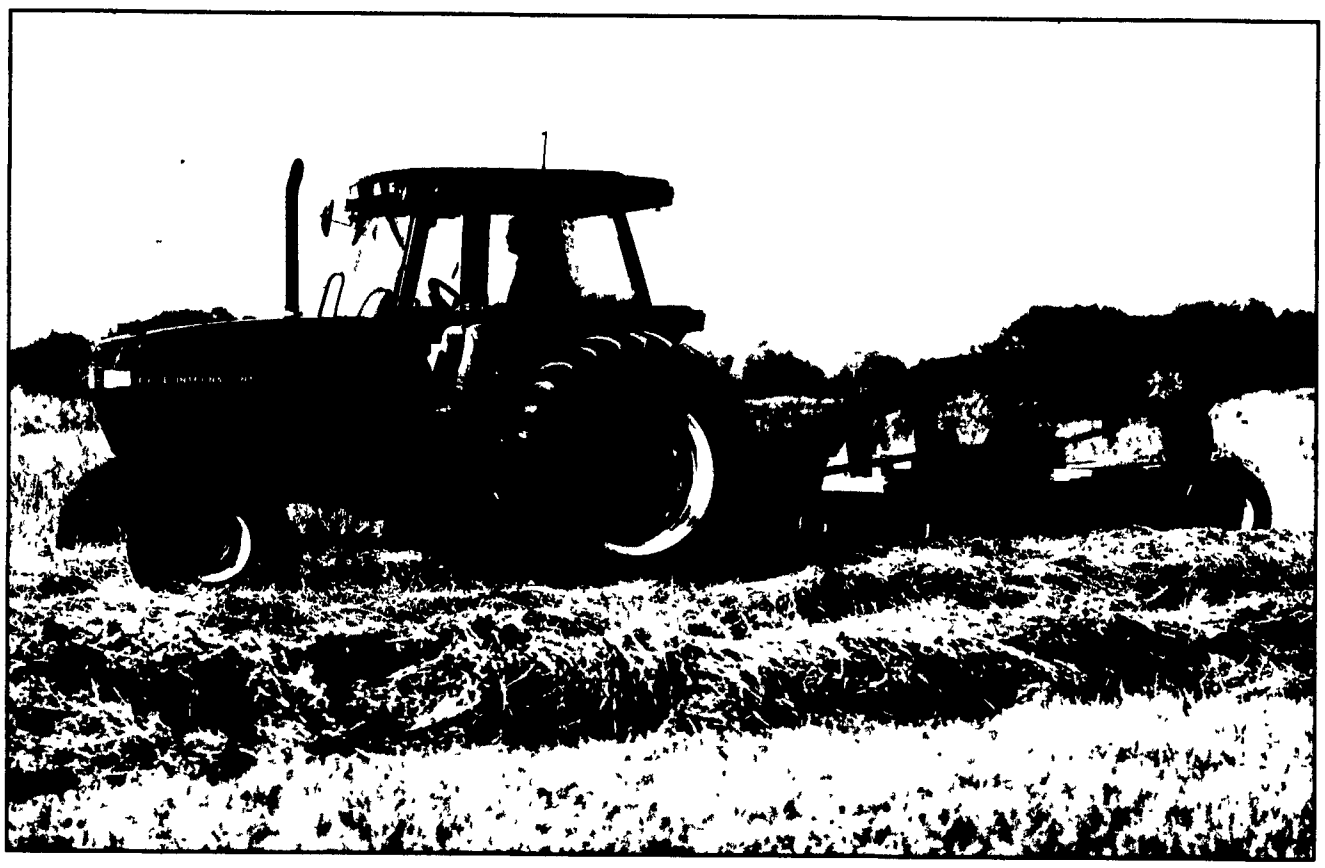
OLEY (Berks Co.) — From a Kutztown dairy farm to Atlantic City, N.J. is an experience of a lifetime for Linette Mertz.

Linette is the daughter of John and Raelyn Mertz, pictured here in front of their new John Deere tractor purchased at Pikeville Equipment.

The Maxatawny Township resident captured her crown as Miss Pennsylvania in June and competed in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City.

Linette grew up on the family dairy farm just outside Kutztown and graduated from Kutztown High School and went on to get her degree in education at Kutztown University. She is the third grade teacher at Oley Elementary School.

We hear you.



We know that making hay can be one of the hardest, hottest, dustiest jobs a farmer has to face. And a big gamble, too, when bad weather is on the horizon.

So when you asked for a tractor with the power and versatility to handle every haying operation from cutting and conditioning to baling and transporting, we heard you.

When you said you needed a tractor with a full complement of features, yet sized just right for utility applications, we heard you.

And when you told us you needed the kind of reliability and durability that'll never leave another windrow stranded in a wet field, we heard you.

And we responded with even more improvements to the industry's most advanced mid-range tractors, the Case International MAXXUM® 5200 Series.

That's why you'll now find a handy "neutral" position built into the standard full-power MAXXUM shuttle shift, allowing you to put the tractor in neutral without using the foot clutch - a real convenience when tying off round bales.

The MAXXUM cab is now more monitor-friendly than ever, with easy rear-window cable access and two new mounting points in the cab - a definite advantage when working with productive, monitored haying equipment.

And as always, every MAXXUM is built big-tractor heavy, with 2 1/2 in. thick cast frame rails, 7700 lbs. of rear-hitch capacity, and an expansive cab with 44 sq. ft. of glass - an indispensable benefit when keeping an eye on the windrow or working with high-productivity tools like the Case International 8312 Disc Mower Conditioner.

What size MAXXUM is right for you? With four models ranging from 80 to 112 PTO hp, you'll have a lot to discuss with your Case IH dealer. And remember to ask about Total Product Support, our commitment to the service and parts that turn a sale into a true partnership.

THINK CONCRETE!!

When planning your storage for high-moisture shelled corn. The light-colored concrete walls protect your valuable grain from the heat like we experienced this summer.

Listen to what these farmers from Virginia say about their switch to a poured concrete silo for their corn storage:

"Even during the hottest summer in our memory, the shelled corn from our poured concrete silo has kept its bright yellow color and has not heated.

We have the best Hi-Moisture shelled corn ever."
Signed: Keith Wilson, Paul Wilson, Gerald Garber; Cave View Farms, Inc., Weyers Cave Va.

"The more you know about silos, the better we look."

The Best of the Best
The Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality coating represents the best of the best in the Wheeling Corrugating line of premium galvanized roofing and siding. Every panel that carries the 2 ounce coating assures you are getting the toughest, the most durable, the most corrosion resistant galvanized sheet available in today's marketplace.

2oz. Seal of Quality Wheeling

Genuine Old-Time Quality
Every Wheeling 2 oz sheet is manufactured from heavy gauge steel, topped with an extra thick zinc coating and formed into profiles that contribute strength and good looks Build with a Wheeling 2 oz sheet and you'll be working with the kind of durability and dependability that's been a standard in the industry for almost 100 years

The Proof is in the Process
The performance behind the Wheeling 2 oz Seal of Quality is possible because of Wheeling's patented Cook Norteman manufacturing process This technology allows a more consistent quality product, and a more uniform coating with unsurpassed zinc adhesion The process takes more handling and more time, but the end result is a super premium panel that has its own limited 20 year performance warranty

The cleanest waterer ever invented!

Self-cleaning
The JUG is designed so that debris and feed are sucked up from the feed trap in the bowl with each watering; debris won't foul the water.

Low-maintenance
Light-tight design so that algae and odors won't build-up in The JUG's interior.

Animals adapt easily
The JUG is designed so that animals, even calves, can suck water naturally, no balls or flaps to get in the way.

LLAMAS LLAMAS LLAMAS

If you've been considering starting in llamas, or having a llama for a pet, why not stop in to see our herd.

Our young males start at $500, our weanling females at $2,500, our pregnant females at $3,500. A deposit will hold any of our crias (baby llamas) for you.

We prefer selling off the farm, rather than subjecting our animals to the stress of auctions.

All of our llamas are registered with the International Llama Registry. Some of the finest wool and blood lines can be found in our herd, including Otter Creek Harold.

All llamas can be halter led, and are gently trained by teenagers.

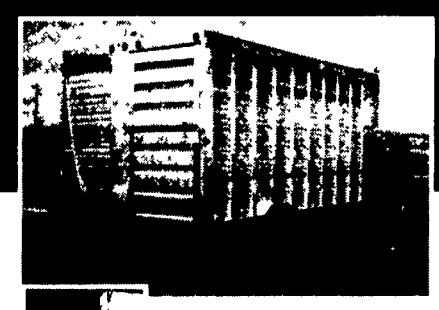
Agriculture Moves on EBY Bodies



M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- LIVESTOCK BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of heights and widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24'; landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer custom options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business- building bodies to haul it is ours.

Let EBY custom build one for you.

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — A 4 year-old — JMJ Springpond Leadman Starlite — was named grand champion of the Holstein Open Show recently during the Reading Fair here at the Kutztown Fairgrounds.

Jennifer Davis, 19, daughter of Frances and Ray Davis, Leesport, picked up the champion trophy at the show. She also won Holstein youth show champion with her junior 2 year-old, JMJ Springpond Royal Trish.

Jennifer is also Berks County dairy princess and a sophomore at Penn State, majoring in dairy and animal science.

Junior champions of the Holstein open show were Jessica Luckenbill and Suzie Sattizahn, both of Bernville.

In colored breeds competition, Seth Wolfgang, Bechtelsville, was champion of the Ayrshire open show. Karen Wolfgang, Bechtelsville, was champion of the Guernsey open show. Mildred Seeds, Downingtown, won champion of the Jersey show. Brown Swiss champion was Jill Vail, Myerstown. Jill was also winner of the Lineback show.

Judge for the show was David Castrogiovanni, Montrose. Castrogiovanni maintains 115 (milking) registered Holsteins. This was the second time he judged at the fair.

The Reading Fair was held this year at the Kutztown Fairgrounds while a new fair location is under construction in Leesport at the 4-H Center.

In all, there were a total of 51 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.

Pa. Beef Expo At Penn State

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.)—Pennsylvania's 7th annual PA Beef Expo is scheduled for Thursday, March 28 through Sunday March 31 at the Ag Arena on the campus of Penn State University.

It was determined to combine the Beef Expo, the 23rd annual performance tested Bull Sale, and the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association's (PCA's) annual education program and annual banquet. The hope is to have one grand beef weekend.

The general schedule this year calls for the educational program to be conducted Thursday March 28, the bull sale will be Friday at noon, to be followed by a brand new addition this year, the first annual Commercial Heifer Sale. The Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association annual banquet is slated for Friday evening. The purebred sales will be conducted Saturday, March 30 along with the beef judging contest and the Beef Skillathon. Sunday, March 31 will feature the junior steer and heifer shows.

There had been a great deal of interest expressed in the inaugural Commercial Heifer Sale. The Beef Expo wishes to expand its mission and provide more of a service to the commercial industry. This endeavor should provide an outlet for quality open and bred heifers as well as a reliable source of commercial heifers, 10 to 22 months of age for anyone looking to acquire healthy, desirable breeding stock. Anyone interested in consigning heifers to the sale or to request a catalog please contact the Beef Expo office at 651 Hollow Rd., State College, PA 16803, (814) 865-5857.

The Beef Expo is also researching the possibility of conducting an Other Breed Sale, which would include all other breeds that are not having their own individual sale. The breeds planning on conducting their own sale are Angus, Hereford, and Simmental. The sale would be conducted on Saturday, March 30, as well.

Darron Smith is heading up the injury into the feasibility of this sale. A determination will need to be made whether to proceed with the project or not. Contact Darron Smith at 9209 Steinsville Rd., Kempton, PA 19529, (610) 756-6001, fax (610) 756-3516.

Contact the Beef Expo office with your suggestions, questions, information requests, or offers of assistance, phone or fax (814) 865-5857.

Dairy Goat Roundup A Quality Show

KIMBERTON (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Goat Roundup was held at the Kimberton Fairgrounds recently. A total of 14 project goats were shown and six 4-H youth participated.

This year, the show was divided into two breed classes, Alpines and other breeds combined.

Dan Torrison, Quakertown, a Nubian and LaMancha breeder and 4-H leader in Bucks County, did a fine job not only in placing the animals, but also instructing the 4-H'ers in how to improve their showing and fitting techniques.

In the Alpine Class, Jessica Bohmier, New London, captured senior and grand champion with her beautiful 3- to 5-year-old doe, Honey Nut. She also received the reserve senior and reserve grand title with a yearling doe in milk, Fern.

Caramel, a 4- to 12-month-old kid, was the junior champion for Zachary DuVall, Lincoln University. Jessica Bohmier won the reserve junior ribbon with her 4- to 12-month-old kid, Candy.

Veronica Bates, Gradyville, won top honors in the other breeds combined class when her 2-year-old Nubian doe, Buttercup, was named senior and grand champion. Melissa Wertz, Phoenix-

The Chain Saws For People Who Want To Act Like Lumberjacks, Not Work Like Them.

If you know a little about the timber business, you know that Stihl chain saws have been used by professional woodcutters for over sixty years.

So maybe you think Stihl equipment is "too good" for a suburbanite or farmer or anyone else who needs to cut wood on an occasional basis.

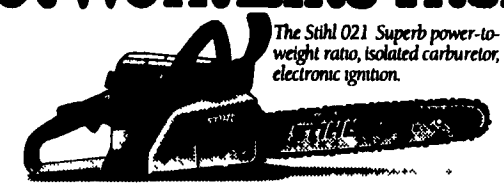
Well, we're happy to tell you that Stihl makes a whole series of chain saws with your needs in mind.

But don't confuse them with discount-store chain saws.

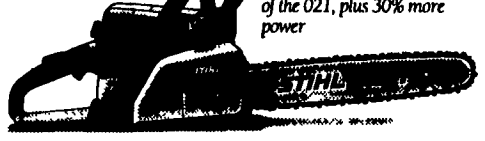
All Stihl saws are designed for performance, ease of handling and starting, and durability.

Now, about the 026 shown at the bottom: we'll admit we sell this saw to professional woodcutters. But it's also bought by people who simply put a lot of hours on a saw every year.

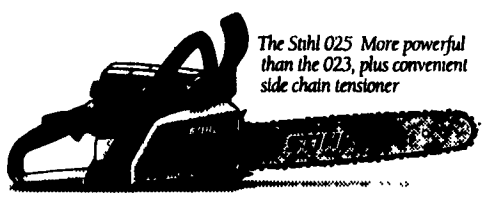
And by the way, when were you ever unhappy because you bought a product that was too good?



The Stihl 021 Superb power-to-weight ratio, isolated carburetor, electronic ignition.



The Stihl 023 All the features of the 021, plus 30% more power



The Stihl 025 More powerful than the 023, plus convenient side chain tensioner

The Stihl 026. Designed for professional use, or the demanding weekend-woodcutter.

For The Part Of You That Promised You'd Never Compromise.

Kutztown Swine Champion Becomes Reading Supreme

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — A hog that was judged champion lightweight at the Kutztown Fair "took it all" and won the supreme champion trophy recently at the Reading Fair, held his year at the Kutztown Fairgrounds.

The Berkshire cross, shown by Steven Younker, exhibited the potential for "all the things demanded by the pork industry," including percentage lean, according to Ron Trostle, a Hampshire breeder from Red Lion, who judged the show. The hog was from the middleweight division.

Steven, 12, son of Ryan and Denise Younker, Fleetwood, showed his first champion of the Reading Fair. Steven, in the 7th grade at Fleetwood Middle School, has shown at this year's Oley and Kutztown fairs. The hog, named "Matt," was purchased from Herman Manbeck, Womelsdorf.

Cathryn Levan, 11, showed "Lady," the reserve middleweight champion, to reserve overall champion. The purebred Landrace was picked by Cathryn because Lady, as a pig, "was a little lady." Cathryn, daughter of Shirley and Paul Levan, Hamburg, said the pig's mother was reserve overall at last year's Farm Show.

Cathryn, who also showed the champion pair of hogs at Reading, is in the 6th grade at Hamburg

In all, there were a total of 13 exhibitors and 27 hogs. Following is a list of show placings.

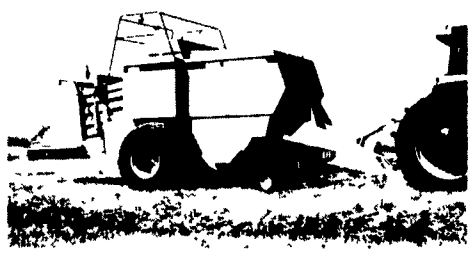
JUMBO BALES

A Case International 8580 large rectangular baler makes JUMBO bales - up to 2,000 pounds.



It compresses hay equivalent to about 40 conventional bales into a single high-density package. The high-end capacity and performance of the 8580 means you can push these big bales through the machine all day — every day. That's a lot of hay!

And it's quality hay, too. The centerline design handles the crop gently to preserve nutritious leaves. The bales are uniformly shaped for efficient handling and shipping.

The 8580 also has a full list of standard features. Low-profile pickup, pre-packed chamber, massive gearbox, heavy-duty components throughout, electronic monitoring, double-tie knotters and low maintenance. And it's simple to operate.

The Case International 8590 is a JUMBO value, too.

A premium quality galvanized auger designed for low maintenance operation.

Mayrath introduces the all new "InLine Drive" series of portable grain augers. Mayrath has combined operational efficiency with long term dependability providing you with a high quality, GALVANIZED auger at a very affordable price. The revolutionary "InLine Drive" system minimizes the number of moving parts... greatly reducing costly down-time and maintenance in the future.

The unique "InLine Drive" design features an internally mounted gearbox inside of an expanded, bell shaped tube housing. Auger flighting is positioned to allow a high volume of unrestricted grain flow around the internal gearbox. A new intake design utilizes double flighting and a cupped intake guard to offer a high capacity, complete cleanout operation. A specially engineered hopper bolts directly on top of the intake guard, further enhancing the augers capacity.

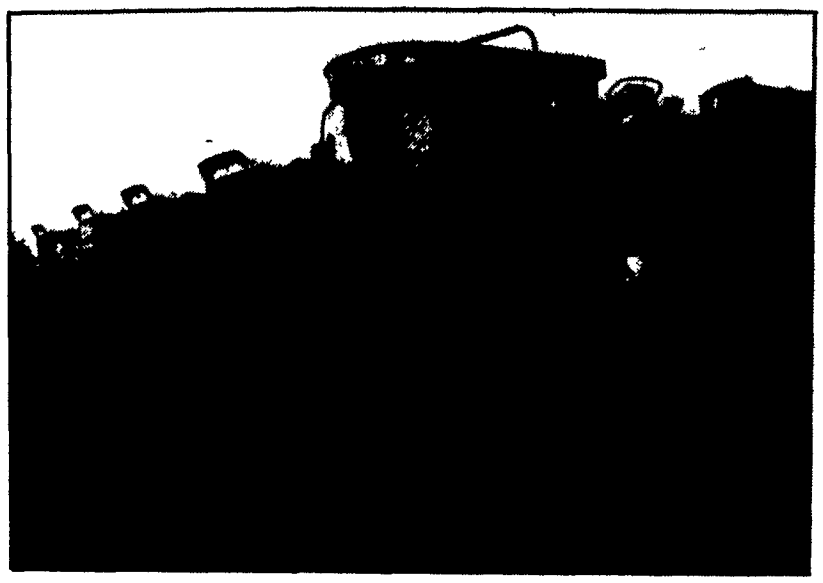
CASE IH Axial Flow Combines - PRODUCTIVITY NEVER THOUGHT POSSIBLE!

The 2100 Series Axial Flow Combines are simply designed to harvest crops in record-settimg time. Who would have ever believed that results like these would ever be possible?



- Harvest 805 Acres of corn and 52 Acres of Soybeans in 100 Hours.
- Harvest 13.3 Acres of Corn that Averaged 160 Bushels per Acre in One Hour.

You can accomplish similar results when you purchase a new 2100 series combine from Hoobers - the people who know how to get maximum productivity from your combine...

Consider a REAL Open-Top Mixer

REAL mixing with four large counter-rotating augers for fast, thorough blending of feeds. The large, flanged augers are designed specifically to evenly mix all ingredients. The mix is the same at the beginning, middle and end of feeding each batch.

REAL mixing-capacity numbers: You can use more of the Patz Mixer's struck-level capacity for mixing than with a reel-type mixer.

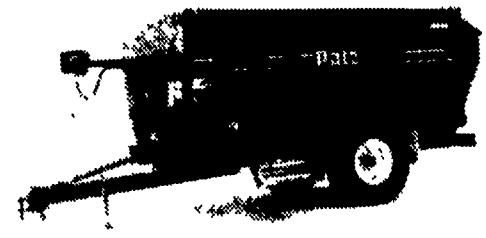
REAL strength with heavy-gauge steel sides and 3/8-inch-thick bottoms for long service life.

REAL primary drive reduction with a planetary gearbox.

REAL hay shelf and notched augers as standard equipment.

REAL Patz financing at affordable rates.

Ask to see the video of the REAL Patz Mixer. Also, we will be glad to do an on-farm demonstration.



SAFETY! It's no accident

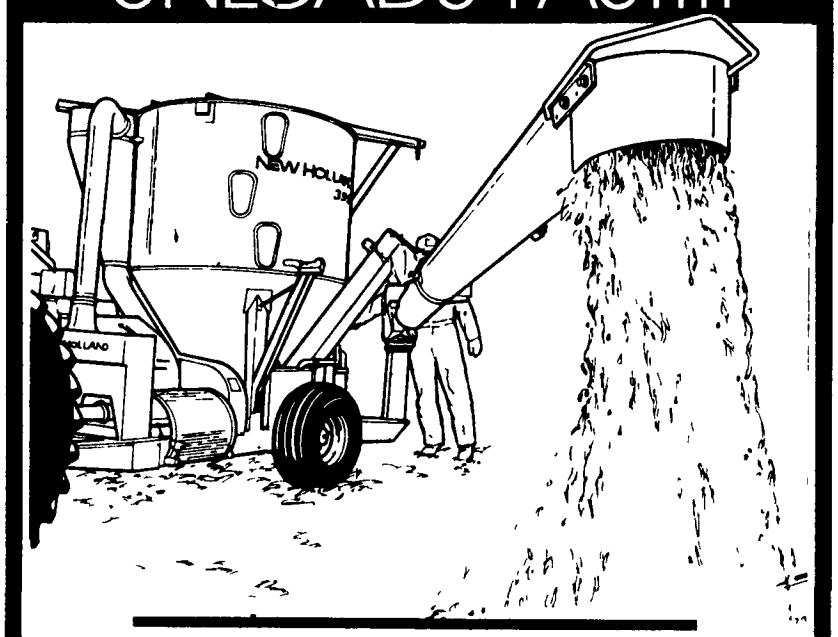
TANK SPREADERS CALL FOR SIZE & PRICE

1 FARM EQUIPMENT

UNLOADS FAST...



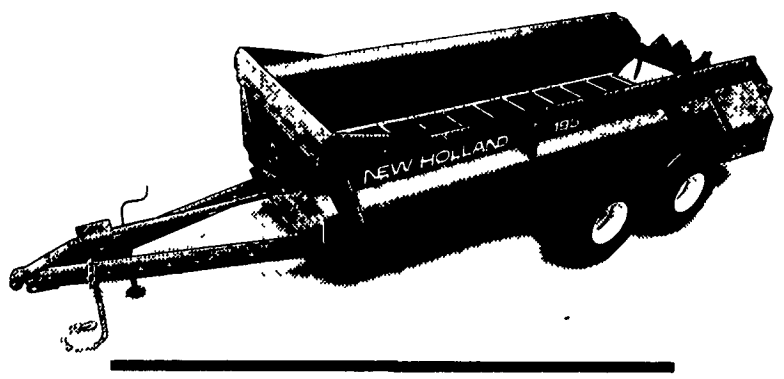
PRICED TO MOVE FAST, TOO

The Model 358 grinder-mixer unloads a 100-bushel tank in about three minutes! The mixing auger thoroughly mixes from the bottom up for consistent, uniform feed. An optional electronic scale gives accurate control of rations.

There's a lot to like about the "358"... including the deal we can make on it.

NEW HOLLAND

CAPACITY KING



THE BIGGEST

The New Holland Model 195 box spreader is up to your biggest spreading job.

- Capacity. The "195" takes on 410 bushels (440 cu. ft.) without flinching.
- Strong construction. Corrosion-resistant steels last and last. And an HDPE floor means smooth unloading, even in cold weather.
- Bonded Protection warranty. If the polyethylene floor fails or the sides rust, we'll replace them free for 12 years.
- Fast clean out...even with this big-capacity strong box.
- Large tandem oscillating wheels. Allow faster ground speeds in rough terrain, with less ground compaction.

Check out our biggest New Holland spreader ...from the biggest name in spreaders.

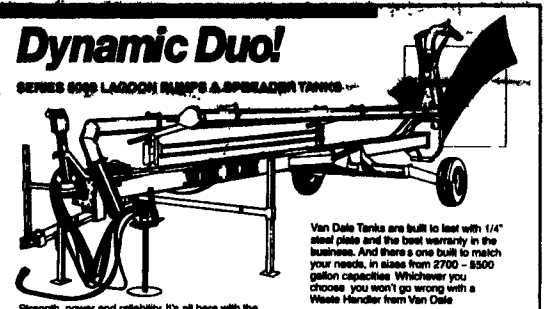
SERIES 5000 LAGOON PUMPS & SPREADER TANKS



Van Dale Tanks are built to last with 1/4" steel plate and the best warranty in the business. And there's one built to match your needs, in sizes from 2700 - 5500 gallon capacities. Whichever you choose you won't go wrong with a Waste Handler from Van Dale.

Strength, power and reliability. It's all here with the new Series 5000 Lagoon Pumps. These pumps have the perfect combination of agitation volume and pressure needed to break up hard surface crust or bottom manure solids with speed and power. And with up to 5000 G.P.M. agitation capacity it can blast a stream of manure 100' or more in any direction to create an easy pumping and spreading slurry. The new Series 5000 trailer mounted or 3-point hitch by far, the fastest and easiest to operate pumps on the market.

PURINA PROFILE

J.B. FEEDS

A feed business that was started in 1928 by the Henninger family has a new proprietor and a new name. One year ago last month, youthful Bodie Knapp, along with his wife Jennifer, purchased the Purina dealership at 574-J Mill Road just outside Berrysburg and renamed it J.B. Feeds.

J.B. Feeds is mostly a dairy store with the capacity to deliver Purina Chows in bulk or by the bag. The large service area from Danville to Dauphin, west to the river at Millersburg and on to Pittston is a growing dairy area.

Bodie and Jennifer have a six-month-old son Dylan. Bodie graduated from Penn State in dairy and animal science with a minor in business. He has a very positive attitude toward agriculture and believes money can be made in farming or agribusiness.

To feed a cow giving 100 pounds of milk or a cow giving 80 pounds of milk, the difference is the density of the ration. Cows' stomachs are all about the same size. So you need to have a better feed in the same size package. That's where Purina Chows make the difference.

"We do a lot of selling on performance using split tests to see which feed does the best," Bodie said. "Purina Chows win these split tests between groups of cows more than any other company. I'm not afraid of Purina Chows against any competitor any day. We will win. Purina may be more expensive per ton, but when Purina Mills says this feed is better, I can depend on it. And the better feed makes a more profitable farm.

"I have a Purina dealership and I'm stuck here. I have to do the best for my customers. I feel confident that when I make recommendations with Purina feeds I do this. If I did not have the best feed, I would turn a bad face to my community and then I would soon be out of business. I'm required to do what is best for my customers and the Purina line of feeds gives me the best way to do this."

In addition to Purina dairy feeds, Bodie sells retail specialty feeds for horses, exotic animals and pets. If a customer calls with a problem he finds an answer. If it takes a special mix or the delivery of one bag of dog feed he does it.

Bodie invites farmers in his service area to take a new look at J.B. Feeds. The business is under new management and has a new business philosophy. And they will accept the challenge to show you by on-the-farm trials how much more profitable Purina Chows can be.

At J.B. Feeds, Bodie Knapp invites customers to do on-the-farm trials to compare results with Purina Chows and other brands of feed.

From bags to bulk truck loads of Purina Chows, customers are offered service according to their needs.

Producer Comments:
I like to deal locally. I always have. I really saw an increase in Production when I went on High Octane 36LN & then again when switching to Maxi-Tech. I think the energy dense, high fat concentrate & good forages are responsible for my production.
